AL JENNINGS BUBBLES OVER IN OIL PROBE

Former Oklahoma Bandit
Says Harding's Nomination Bought by an Oil
Man

"COST ME A MILLION"

Quotes Jake Hamon as Saying
That He Would Be Made
Secretary of Interior

Washington, Mar. 27.—(By the A. P.)—The story about a big money deal at the Chicago Republican convention in 1920 was repeated with many dashes of color before the oil committee today by Al Jennings, who became famous years ago as a train robber and since has turned evangelist and politician.

Jennings said he was passing on what had been told him by Jake Hamon, the Oklahoma Republican national committee man who was killed by Clara Smith's storm late in 1920. Briefly Hamon's story as related by Jennings on the stand today was as follows:

That Hamon had "nominated" Warren G. Harding for the presidency and that it had cost him (Hamon) $1,000,000.

That the cost of carrying Oklahoma for Harding had been $500,000. That Hamon had paid Harry M. Daugherty $25,000; Senator Boise Penrose of Pennsylvania $250,000, and Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, $25,000.

That Hamon was to become Secretary of the Interior and share in the public lands and expected with the money he would make to become President.

Had Known Him

Jennings said he had known Hamon for a number of years and had gone with him to the Chicago convention. "We went to a room in one of the hotels," he continued, "and he told me that he would be nominated the next day and that if he had cost him a million dollars. He said he had paid $250,000 to Boise Penrose and in a conversation it was brought out in some way—I will not be perfectly clear about it—that it was greed by Mr. Daugherty. Will H. Hays and he named somebody else. I said I had been settled. He said Mr. Daugherty was at first a favor of Senator Fall for the position but that he had bought them all over but that it had cost him a lot of money to do it. That it about all I know of it."

Information Wrong

"I understand that Mr. Hamon told you that in the make-up of the cabinet of Mr. Harding," said Senator Penrose, Republican, Missouri, "that Mr. Daugherty was in favor of Mr. Fall."

"Yes, but that it had been all arranged that he (Mr. Hamon) was to be Secretary of the Interior," was to be Secretary of the Interior. He said the Democrats had not left much of the public land but that he would get the rest of it."

"Did he speak about the oil reserves?" he said. "He said public lands—nothing but I can remember much about the oil reserves. He said that money had been very potent in Washington as well as outlying districts of the United States. I have talked with people in Oklahoma about Hamon's expectations and I do not think he kept it from anybody."

ASSAULTS STORY

Washington, Mar. 27.—The story told by Al Jennings today to the oil committee was branded as "false and repulsive" in a statement by Senator C. Taylor, former secretary to the late Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania.

Declaring he had been in constant attendance upon the Senator while he had been ill in Philadelphia before and after the Chicago convention Taylor said Hamon had never seen or communicated with Penrose nor had the latter ever mentioned Hamon's name to his secretary.

POSTPONE ACTION

Washington, Mar. 27.—After consultation with special counsel Penrose and Roberts in the oil lease cases United States Attorney Gordon decided not to present the contempt case against Harry P. Sinclair to the grand jury until tomorrow.

ACCEPT RESIGNATION

Washington, D. C., Mar. 27.—The treasury accepted the resignation of Clarence C. Chase, son-in-law of Albert B. Fall, collector of customs at El Paso, Texas, but the house judiciary committee failed to act on the senate resolution contemplating impeachment proceedings as a result of his refusal to respond to questions before the oil committee.

ROXIE STINSON CROSS-EXAMINED BY DAUGHERTY'S ATTORNEY AT PROBE

"Just a Few Questions to Ask" Said Paul Howland, Beginning Questioning of Star Witness Before Daugherty's Committee—Cite Mal Daugherty

Washington, Mar. 27.—(By the A. P.)—Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Jess Smith, submitted herself today to a cross-examination by counsel for Attorney-General Daugherty against whom she has made a long series of charges before the Senate investigation. The attorney general was "cautiously responsible" for her former husband's suicide.

Paul Howland, long-time friend of the Attorney General, conducted the cross-examination which was deemed upon after the committee had held that further inquiry into the story of a $3,000,000 profit to five men from a deal in oil stocks was without its scope. Howland said he had "only a few questions to ask" and first took up the White Motor stock which Miss Stinson had mentioned in her testimony as being received from Jess Smith.

"This certificate for 25 shares of White Motor, which you sold in Columbus in September, 1922," Mr. Howland began, "would you say that you had it?"

"Yes, but that it had been all arranged that he (Mr. Hamon) was to be Secretary of the Interior," was to be Secretary of the Interior. He said the Democrats had not left much of the public land but that he would get the rest of it."

"Did he speak about the oil reserves?" he said. "He said public lands—nothing but I can remember much about the oil reserves. MANY KILLED IN SLIDES ON ITALIAN COAST

Reported That 50 Are Dead in
One Village From the Landslide

Salerno, Italy, Mar. 27.—The gravity of the landslide in the vicinity of Amalfi yesterday grows hourly. Estimates here place the deaths in the villages along the coast at 50 but many of these places are cut off both from road and wire communication and the exact number of victims is unknown. The bulk of the victims are reported at the village of Vietri in a Rome dispatch last night and there were at least 100 dead at Vietri.

There is a possibility that Americans are affected as a large convoy left for Amalfi yesterday. The slide was caused by the undermining of the shore by recent violent storms. Later news from Amalfi was that the American and German tourists at the Amalfi hotels had left the danger points when the slides came.

Drowned In

Missouri, Belief

Watford City, N. D., March 27.—Word of the probable drowning of W. H. Peterson, residing on an island in the Missouri river north of this city, has just reached here. Mrs. Peterson was unable to reach her home of her husband's disappearance for the reason that she was unable to get to shore owing to water on the ice. Peterson left home with the intention of going down the river several miles to the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Wilson, to arrange for getting a boat to the island for use during high water. It is thought probable that Peterson fell through an airhole into the river.

SEEDING GETS UNDER WAY IN THIS SECTION

Season Is About Three Weeks
Earlier Than Usual Ob-
server Reports

STOCK FARED WELL

Came Through Winter in
Fine Shape; Tame Grass
Affording Feed

Seeding operations are getting under way in this section of the state about three weeks earlier than usual, according to reports received by O. W. Roberts, weather observer.

Seeding also is general through the south part of the state, including McIntosh, LaMoure and Dickey counties, the weather observer said today. The entire season is advanced about three weeks, although seeding operations have begun as early as March 20 to 25 before in this part of the state.

Most of the seeding being done in this section is ground plowing, last fall or on summer plowing, and wheat or barley is being drilled in corn land also. Most farmers have welcomed the opportunity to get seed in the ground earlier, believing that it offers better opportunity for an increased yield.

Livestock through the western half of the state came through the winter in excellent shape, the weather observer reported. Tame grass is now affording some feed to cattle and wild grass is beginning to show green, he added.

River Holds

Although mild weather prevails, the Missouri river has shown no signs of an ice breakup through North Dakota. The river is falling, and has been for several days, but the ice is still solid and about 10 inches thick, the weather bureau reports.

Seeding is quite general on the "reservation" a few miles south of Bismarck. Many men may be seen in the fields every day.

Reports from various agencies in this territory indicate a decrease in wheat acreage and a very considerable increase in corn acreage in Burleigh county. The shift, however, will not decrease the total acreage. The early spring, if continued, will make for a larger acreage if any thing.

EARLY IN VALLEY

Fargo, N. D., Mar. 27.—What is believed to be a record for early seeding in this part of the Red River valley is being set this year, in the opinion of many farmers who have been farming for 40 years or more.

Seeding is now almost general in many sections of Richland county, and is well under way in Cass county from Fargo south, it was reported today by George Crowe, who returned yesterday from a trip to Washington. Work in the fields is general today throughout Cass county.

In the vicinity of Campbell, Minn., near Breckenridge much of the seedling was completed, many of the farmers there having their wheat seeding all done," said Mr. Crowe today.

"We also saw many fields that were all seeded in the vicinity of Wahpeton. Even low lying lands, which have sometimes been hard to seed at all in some springs, are now all seeded."

"Farmers there are jubilant, many of the oldtimers declaring that the conditions this year are ideal for a good wheat crop."

LaFollette's

Campaign Cost
Put At $411.37

Cost of the LaFollette "sticker campaign" was $411.37, according to announcement by F. A. Vogel of Coleharbor here. Contributions to the fund totaled $81.52, leaving a deficit of $349.85, which Vogel, Rev. Frazier and John Bloom advanced. An appeal for funds to meet the deficit is made in the North Dakota Nonpartisan. Expenses included printing 200,000 stickers and a like number of ballots.

S. W. Corwin of Bismarck
Becomes Part Owner of
Connolly Company

S. W. Corwin of the Corwin Motor Company today assumed a part ownership in the Connolly Motor Company of Mandan, having purchased the interest of Michael Connolly in the organization. The Connolly Motor Company was established in 1913 and owns a garage located on Third avenue Northwest, Mandan. The company has been agent for Studenbaker and Chevrolet cars for several years. Mr. Corwin will be in partnership with Attorney L. H. Connolly in the ownership of the company.

Plans are being drawn for construction of a 50 by 140 feet addition to the present property, making a garage 100 by 140 feet in size. Plans include a tourist ladies rest room and elaborate show rooms. About $25,000 will be spent in improvements. The Chevrolet and Studenbaker sales will be continued.

Michael Connolly will make his home in Los Angeles.

BIG VOTE AT SENTINEL BUTTE

Sentinel Butte, N. D., March 27.—A big vote was cast at the city election here, in which the following officials were elected: trustees, C. J. England, J. P. Jordan, A. P. Boies; treasurer, J. P. McDonald; clerk, R. H. Mason; assessor, J. J. Kees; marshal, R. Huseby.

JOHNSON NOW HAS LEAD IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Overtakes Coolidge Majority
and Leads This Afternoon
By About 200 Votes

RESULT IS IN DOUBT

Johnson Men, However, Declare Progress of Returns
Indicates Victory For Him

Sioux Falls, Mar. 27.—Senator Hiram Johnson jumped out in front today in his race with President Coolidge for the Republican presidential endorsement in South Dakota as additional returns came in from Tuesday's state-wide primary.

An error in early returns from one county, corrected today, resulted in a net gain of 900 votes for Johnson and sent his total in 1,566 of the state's 1,825 precincts up to 38,000 as compared to 1,207 for Coolidge. This lead of 1,207 for Johnson was trimmed to 1,092 by first returns from Harding county in the extreme Northwestern corner of the state where 11 precincts, a third of the county—showed Coolidge leading three to one.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Mar. 27.—The South Dakota presidential preference endorsement held in the balance today as returns came in slowly. Senator Hiram Johnson of California had displaced President Coolidge from the lead the latter held over him in the returns all day yesterday, but he held it by a slender margin.

Because of the fact that rural districts swayed in their support between the two candidates, it became apparent that almost total victory would be determined, unless there is an unexpected change in the progress of the returns.

At 1 p. m. the standing was: Johnson 37,186; Coolidge 36,965, a lead for Johnson of 221.

The California senator, through support in rural districts and assault towns, cut down the lead of 2,000 the President held yesterday afternoon, but when his lead reached about 200 the next returns failed to make much change.

Watching the trend of returns last night, state headquarters for the Johnson campaign added a few more thousand majority to the prediction of victory for the California senator, declaring he would win by a 12,000 to 15,000 majority.

Meanwhile the Coolidge state leaders held to their original statement that returns, compiled by them, "indicated a Coolidge majority of 3,500 to 4,000."

Twenty-five of the state's sixty-four counties had reported complete unofficial returns on the Republican presidential contest when Johnson moved ahead of Coolidge.

Only meager returns were available from several counties, but in counties with reports in deemed representative, Johnson had a lead in thirty-four and Coolidge in twenty-six.

McMaster Certain

While Senator Johnson was overcoming the Coolidge lead, Governor W. H. McMaster, with whom he had "teamed," was increasing his majority over Senator Thomas Sterling for the Republican senatorial nomination.

With the outcome of the senatorial contest definitely determined, according to the unofficial tabulation, county correspondents showed a tendency to omit the later figures from their reports, but in 1,275 precincts the count was: McMaster 37,517; Sterling 37,737.

Democratic state headquarters, backing the candidacy of William McAdams for the party's presidential endorsement, declared late last night that "reasonably substantiated" it had received substantiated reports that the former secretary of the treasury had carried the state nearly three to one.

WOMAN DISAPPEARS FROM FAST NORTHERN PACIFIC TRAIN WEST OF HERE; WIDE SEARCH IS MADE

Detectives, village and county officials from Miles City, Montana to Mandan today were pressed into service in a search for a woman passenger on North Coast passenger east bound train No. 2, who mysteriously disappeared at some point between Miles City and Hebron.

Her identity is unknown.

She had transportation from Seattle to Chicago and was last seen last night by the porter at Miles City, Montana. Early this morning a trainman noticed bedclothes hanging outside a Pullman window which was wide open. He investigated and the woman passenger was found to be missing. Some of her wearing apparel, and other effects were in the berth.

However, no trace could be found. Whether she "walked in her sleep" out of the window, committed suicide or met with foul play is a question. The baggage was carried on to St. Paul and any means locally as to getting information as to her identity were lacking.

The cashiers had not completed checking up, according to telephone reports to The Tribune, but he had expressed belief that only a small amount of money was taken. He was awaiting the arrival of insurance men.

Wires Are Cut

The cashiers also was quoted as saying that it looked like the work of the same crowd which robbed the bank last December 6, when they got about $2,000.

Telephone wires were cut by the robbers before they entered the Temvik bank. Service to Hazelton, Linton and Temvik from Bismarck was not restored until this afternoon.

After the bank was robbed last December detectives worked on the case and two men were arrested, but officials were unable to proceed with their case because of lack of evidence.

The bank installed a new, big safe following the last robbery and the robbers did not get into this. It is understood most of the valuable securities were in it. The robbers, entering the vault by blowing their way, muzzed up papers and got a little money, it is said.

The robbery occurred between 2 and 4 a. m., but the telephone operator, living across the street, reported she did not hear any noise about that time. She was up until after midnight. The robbery was discovered after daybreak.

This is shown by unofficial returns of tabulated returns from 350 precincts out of the state's 2,058. The remaining precincts are on the basis of the presidential vote evenly divided and are not expected to alter the standings of the delegate leaders. However, such delegate to the national convention is required to cast his first ballot for the President. Should no nomination result from the first ballot each delegate is entitled to his own discretion.

The five Republican electors, three of whom are for LaFollette, will, unless the Democrats emerge victorious in this state in November in the presidential race, cast ballots in the national electoral college. Owing to the fact that North Dakota is normally a Republican state it is reasonable to expect that the five electors will go to Washington.

Although no material changes are expected in the Republican national delegates there is a strong possibility that O. McGrath of Glen Ullin, a LaFollette adherent, will overtake W. S. Jones of New England, a Coolidge supporter, in the race for fifth place in the electoral college.

The leaders are: Republican, Fisher, LaFollette, 44; 212, Larson, LaFollette, 42,030; Stern, Coolidge, 41,415; Sorlie, Coolidge, 41,426; Taylor, Coolidge, 41,423; Spaulding, Coolidge, 41,501; Elliott, Coolidge, 40,474; Dinn, Coolidge, 39,532; Ward, Coolidge, 39,773; Snowfield, LaFollette, 39,446; Severson, Coolidge, 39,431; Bryant, Coolidge, 39,409; Williams, LaFollette, 39,270.

Democratic delegates—Burke, 19,564; O'Connor, Murphy, 7,624; F. A. Perry, 6,878; Hughes, Murphy, 6,680; Murphy, Perry, 6,411; McCoy, Murphy, 6,382; O'Connor, Perry, 6,312; Johnson, Murphy, 6,070; Lewett, Murphy, 5,574; Lillibridge, Perry, 5,765.

Republican electors: Holl, LaFollette, 56,104; Larson, LaFollette, 57,379; Magnuson, LaFollette, 55,579; Christianson, Coolidge, 51,353; Jones, Coolidge, 48,287; McGrath, LaFollette, 46,281.

Democratic electors—McDonald, Murphy, 7,051; Kennedy, Perry, 6,948; Green, Murphy, 5,922; Trimble, Perry, 5,857; Strauss, Perry, 5,718.

Public Meeting Will be Held
in A. of C. Rooms Here
Friday Night

"Are you interested in tax reduction?" "Do you want to know where your tax money goes in Bismarck, Burleigh county and the state?"

Any citizen who is interested will welcome the opportunity to attend the public meeting to be held Friday night at 8 p. m. in the Association of Commerce rooms under the auspices of the local tax studying committee named by Governor Nestos, committee men say.

A representative attendance is urged at the meeting, at which important questions will be discussed.

Representatives of the city and school board will be present to answer questions regarding the methods of running these subdivisions and discuss financial problems.

Representatives of the state tax department also have been invited to be present to talk over the situation.

In Minnesota, according to one member of the committee, many communities are forming permanent tax studying bodies and the spread interest is being taken in tax problems.

TEMTVIK STATE BANK AGAIN ROBBED

AL JENNINGS
BUBBLES OVER
IN OIL PROBE

Former Oklahoma Bandit
Says Harding's Nomination Bought by an Oil
Man

"COST ME A MILLION"

Quotes Jake Hamon as Saying
That He Would be Made
Secretary of Interior

Washington, Mar. 27.—(By the A. P.)—The story about a big money deal at the Chicago Republican convention in 1920 was repeated with many dashes of color before the oil committee today by Al Jennings, who became famous years ago as a train robber and since has turned evangelist and politician.

Jennings said he was passing on what had been told him by Jake Hamon, the Oklahoma Republican national committeeman who was killed by Clara Smith Hamon late in 1920. Briefly Hamon's story as related by Jennings on the stand today was as follows:

That Hamon had "nominated" Warren G. Harding for the presidency and that it had cost him (Hamon) $1,000,000.

That the cost of carrying Oklahoma for Harding had been $500,000. That Hamon had paid Harry M. Daugherty $25,000; Senator Boise Penrose of Pennsylvania $250,000, and Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, $25,000.

That Hamon was to become Secretary of the Interior and share in the public lands and expected with the money he would make to become President.

Had Known Him
Jennings said he had known Hamon for a number of years and had gone with him to the Chicago convention. "We went to a room, one of the hotels, continued the witness. "He told me Harding would be nominated the next day and that it had cost him a million dollars. He said he had paid $250,000 to Boise Penrose and in a conversation it was brought out in some way, I will not be perfectly clear about it—that it was greed by Mr. Daugherty, Will H. Hays and he named somebody else from Ohio, that he would be Secretary of the Interior.

"He said it had all been settled, to say Mr. Daugherty was at first a favor of Senator Fall for the position but that he had bought them all over but that it had cost him a lot of money to do it. That it about all I know of it."

Information Wrong
"I understand that Mr. Hamon told you that in the make-up of the cabinet of Mr. Harding," said Senator Penrose, Republican, Missouri, "that Mr. Daugherty was in favor of Mr. Fall."

"Yes, but that it had been all arranged that he (Mr. Hamon) was to be Secretary of the Interior."

"Do you think all the information he gave you turned out with the same degree of correctness as that?"

"That was the whole deal and that was what he expected to get in on."

Replying to inquiries from Senator Bill, Democrat, Washington, Jennings said:

"He (Hamon) wanted me to head one of his companies. He said the Democrats had not left much of the public land but that he would get the rest of it."

"Did he speak about the oil reserves?"

"He said public lands—nothing but I can remember much about the oil reserves. He said that money had been very potent in Washington as well as outlying districts of the United States. I have talked with people in Oklahoma about Hamon's expectations and I do not think he kept it from anybody."

ASSAULTS STORY
Washington, Mar. 27.—The story told by Al Jennings today to the oil committee was branded as "false and repulsive" in a statement by Senator C. Taylor, former secretary to the late Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania.

Declaring he had been in constant attendance upon the Senator while he had been ill in Philadelphia before and after the Chicago convention Taylor said Hamon had never seen or communicated with Penrose nor had the latter ever mentioned Hamon's name to his secretary.

ACCEPT RESIGNATION
Washington, D. C., Mar. 27.—The treasury accepted the resignation of Clarence C. Chase, son-in-law of Albert B. Fall, as collector of customs at El Paso, Texas, but the house judiciary committee failed to act on the senate resolution contemplating impeachment proceedings as a result of his refusal to respond to questions before the oil committee.

ROXIE STINSON CROSS-EXAMINED BY DAUGHERTY'S ATTORNEY AT PROBE

"Just a Few Questions to Ask" Said Paul Howland, Beginning Questioning of Star Witness Before Daugherty's Committee—Cite Mal Daugherty

Washington, Mar. 27.—(By the A. P.)—Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of Jess Smith, submitted herself today to a cross-examination by counsel for Attorney-General Daugherty against whom she has made a long series of charges before the Senate investigators, winding up in the assertion that the Attorney-General was "morally responsible" for her former husband's suicide.

Paul Howland, long-time friend of the Attorney-General, conducted the cross-examination which was decided upon after the committee had held that further inquiry into the story of a $23,000,000 profit to five men from a deal in oil stocks was without its scope. Howland said he had "only a few questions to ask" and first took up the White Motor stock which Miss Stinson had mentioned in her testimony as being received from Jess Smith.

"This certificate for 25 shares of White Motors which you sold in Columbus in September, 1922," Mr. Howland began, "would you say that you did not buy that stock in October, 1921 yourself?"

Miss Stinson hesitated. "To be frank about it that certificate was handed to me by Jess Smith," she owned at several times certificates for White Motors stock, she said, and would not be certain as to the disposition of any particular lot. Pressed to say that this was the stock that Smith gave her with instructions to sell "quickly and quietly," Miss Stinson said: "No."

Miss Stinson said the business deal on which A. L. Fink had called her to Cleveland was a reorganization of the "Ideal Tire and Rubber Company" which Fink had undertaken.

CALL BROTHER
Washington, Mar. 27.—The Senate Daugherty committee today ordered M. S. Daugherty, brother of the Attorney-General, summoned by the sergeant-at-arms when he failed to appear in answer to a summons which Senator Wheeler said had been served.

When sentence was passed Dolan fell to the floor in a faint. He was revived and taken to the county jail. In passing sentence the court said that Dolan who admitted during the trial that he was addicted to the drug habit would probably be released from prison as soon as he was cured of the habit.

IN AUTO FIRM

S. W. Corwin of Bismarck
Becomes Part Owner of
Connolly Company

S. W. Corwin of the Corwin Motor Company today assumed a part ownership in the Connolly Motor Company of Mandan, having purchased the interest of Michael Connolly in the organization. The Connolly Motor Company was established in 1913 and owns a garage located on Third avenue Northwest, Mandan. The company has been agent for Studebaker and Chevrolet cars for several years. Mr. Corwin will be in partnership with Attorney L. H. Connolly in the ownership of the company.

Plans are being drawn for construction of a 50 by 140 feet addition to the present property, making a garage 100 by 140 feet in size. Plans include a tourist ladies rest room and elaborate show rooms. About $25,000 will be spent in improvements. The Chevrolet and Studebaker sales will be continued. Michael Connolly will make his home in Los Angeles.

BIG VOTE AT SENTINEL BUTTE
Sentinel Butte, N. D., March 27.—A big vote was cast at the city election here, in which the following officials were elected: trustees—C. J. Englund, J. P. Jordan, A. P. Boies; treasurer, J. P. McDonald; clerk, E. H. Mason; assessor, J. J. Hess; marshal, H. Huseby.

SEEDING GETS UNDER WAY IN THIS SECTION

Season Is About Three Weeks
Earlier Than Usual Ob-
server Reports

STOCK FARED WELL

Came Through Winter in
Fine Shape; Tame Grass
Affording Feed

Seeding operations are getting under way in this section of the state about three weeks earlier than usual, according to reports received by O. W. Roberts, weather observer.

Seeding also is general through the south part of the state, including McIntosh, LaMoure and Dickey counties, the weather observer said today. The entire season is advanced about three weeks, although seeding operations have begun as early as March 20 to 25 before in this part of the state.

Most of the seeding being done in this section is on ground plowed last fall or on summer fallowing. Some wheat is being drilled in corn land also. Most farmers have welcomed the opportunity to get seed in the ground earlier, believing that it offers better opportunity for an increased yield.

Livestock through the western half of the state came through the winter in excellent shape, the weather observer reported. Tame grass is now affording some feed to cattle and wild grass is beginning to show green, he added.

River Holds
Although mild weather prevails, the Missouri River has shown no signs of an ice breakup through North Dakota. The river is falling, and has been for several days, but the ice is still solid and about 10 inches thick, the weather bureau reports.

Seeding is quite general on the "re-cultivation" a few miles south of Bismarck. Many men may be seen in the fields every day.

Reports from various agencies in this territory indicate a decrease in wheat acreage and a very considerable increase in corn acreage in Burleigh county. The shift, however, will not decrease the total acreage. The early spring, if continued, will make for a larger acreage if anything.

EARLY IN VALLEY
Fargo, N. D., Mar. 27.—What is believed to be a record for early valley is being set this year. In the opinion of many farmers who have been farming for 40 years or more.

Seeding is now almost general in many sections of Richland county, and is well under way in Cass county, from Fargo south, it was reported today by George Crowe, who returned yesterday from a trip to Wahpeton. Work in the fields is general today throughout Cass county.

In the vicinity of Campbell, Minn., near Breckenridge much of the seeding was completed, many of the farmers there having their wheat seeding all done," said Mr. Crowe today.

"We also saw many fields that were all seeded in the vicinity of Wahpeton. Even low lying lands, which have sometimes been hard to seed at all in some springs, are now all seeded."

"Farmers there are jubilant, many of the oldtimers declaring that the conditions this year are ideal for a good wheat crop."

LaFollette's
Campaign Cost
Put At $411.37

Cost of the LaFollette "sticker campaign" was $411.37, according to an announcement by F. A. Vogel of Coleharbor here today. Contributions to the fund totaled $61.52, leaving a deficit of $349.85, which Vogel, Roy Frazier and John Bloom advanced, he said. An appeal for funds to meet the deficit is made in the North Dakota Nonpartisan. Expenses included printing 200,000 stickers and a like number of ballots.

"REAL G. O. P."
ALSO TO MEET

Executive Committee Will Hold Fargo Conference

A meeting of the "Real Republican" state executive committee will be held in Fargo Saturday, at the same time a meeting of the Independent Voters Association committee is held, at which time plans will be discussed for holding an anti-league state convention, according to word received here today. The meeting is called by B. F. Spaulding, state chairman of the "Real Republican" organization.

Whether or not the Democratic state committee will hold at the same time is uncertain. The matter has been discussed but no definite action taken.

JOHNSON NOW HAS LEAD IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Overtakes Coolidge Majority
and Leads This Afternoon
By About 200 Votes

RESULT IS IN DOUBT

Johnson Men, However, Declare Progress of Returns Indicates Victory For Him

Sioux Falls, Mar. 27.—Senator Hiram Johnson jumped out in front today in his race with President Coolidge for the Republican presidential endorsement in South Dakota as additional returns came in from Tuesday's state-wide primary.

An error in early returns from one county, corrected today, resulted in a net gain of 900 votes for Johnson and sent his total in 1,566 of the state's 1,825 precincts up to 38,306 as compared to 37,999 for Coolidge. This lead of 1,207 for Johnson was trimmed down to 1,092 by first returns from Harding county in the extreme Northwestern corner of the state where 11 precincts—a third of the county—showed Coolidge leading three to one.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Mar. 27.—The South Dakota presidential preference endorsement held in the balance today as returns came in slowly. Senator Hiram Johnson of California had displaced President Coolidge from the lead the latter held over him in the returns all day yesterday, but he held it by a slight margin.

Because of the fact that rural districts swayed in their support between the two candidates, it became apparent that almost a total vote would be necessary before the winner could be determined, unless there is an unexpected change in the progress of the returns.

At 1 p. m. the standing was: Johnson 37,186; Coolidge 36,965, a lead for Johnson of 221.

The California senator, through support in rural districts and small towns, cut down the lead of 2,000 the President held yesterday afternoon, but when his lead reached about 200 the net returns failed to make much change.

See Victory
Watching the trend of returns last night, state headquarters for the Johnson campaign added a few more thousand majority to the prediction of victory for the California, declaring he would win by a 12,000 to 15,000 majority.

Meanwhile the Coolidge state leaders held their original statement that returns compiled by them "indicated a Coolidge majority of 3,500 to 4,000."

Twenty-five of the state's sixty-four counties had reported complete unofficial returns on the Republican presidential contest when Johnson moved ahead of Coolidge.

Only meager returns were available from several counties, but in counties with reports in deemed representative, Johnson had a lead in thirty-four and Coolidge in twenty-six.

McMaster Certain
While Senator Johnson was overcoming the Coolidge lead, Governor W. H. McMaster, with whom he had "teamed," was increasing his majority over Senator Thomas Sterling for the Republican senatorial nomination.

With the outcome of the senatorial contest definitely determined, according to the unofficial tabulation, county correspondents showed a tendency to omit the later figures from their reports, but in 1,275 precincts the count was: McMaster 37,571; Sterling 37,737.

Democratic state headquarters, backing the candidacy of William G. McAduff for that party's presidential endorsement, declared late last night that "reasonably complete" reports it had received "substantiated completely" the earlier statement that the former secretary of the treasury had carried the state nearly three to one.

CHARGES BUYING ELECTION

St. Louis, Mar. 27.—Senator Hiram Johnson of California, in a statement here today, commenting on the South Dakota presidential preference primary, charged that "if ever an effort was made to buy an election it has been done in that state."

Washington, Mar. 27.—Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, offered a joint resolution in the Senate today requesting the President to invoke "such nations as he deems wise" to send representatives to a combined economic and disarmament conference in Washington.

QUET T HALLIDAY
Halliday, N. D., March 27.—In perhaps the most quiet city election ever held here the following officials were elected: trustees—Sig Evanson, F. W. Hall, and N. D. Campbell; justice, George Wright; treasurer, Howard Marney; assessor, Otto Evenson; clerk, H. L. Evenson; marshal, Fred Kempshall.

WOMAN DISAPPEARS FROM FAST
NORTHERN PACIFIC TRAIN WEST
OF HERE; WIDE SEARCH IS MADE

Detectives, village and county officials from Miles City, Montana to Mandan today were pressed into service in a search for a woman passenger on North Coast passenger east bound train No. 2, who mysteriously disappeared at some point between Miles City and Hebron.

Her identity is unknown. She had transportation from Seattle to Chicago and was last seen last night by the porter at Miles City, Montana. Early this morning a trainman noticed bedclothes hanging outside a Pullman window which was wide open. He investigated and the woman passenger was found to be missing. Some of her wearing apparel and other effects were in the berth.

However, no trace could be found. Whether she "walked in her sleep" out of the window, committed suicide or met with foul play is a question. The baggage was carried on to St. Paul and any means locally as to getting information as to her identity were lacking.

CHANGE MADE IN FACULTY

Fargo, N. D., March 27.—The latest change in the faculty of the North Dakota Agricultural college occurred this week when Lawrence R. Holland, dairy products specialist at the college and editor of the dairy department in the Wheat Grower, published at Grand Forks, resigned his college position to join the Dilworth Dairyman's association as superintendent of their plant at Moorhead.

The Dilworth Association plans to expand their organization so as to produce butter and ice cream and Mr. Holland will direct this work.

SOLICITOR IS SOUGHT, FRAUD
HERE CHARGED

Falsely Sought Contributions to Juvenile Band of City.
Is Charge Made

A warrant was sworn out by A. F. Bradley, Secretary of the Association of Commerce, for a young Bismarck man on a charge of obtaining money under the false pretense of soliciting funds for the benefit of the city Juvenile Band.

According to Mr. Bradley, business men were visited and a statement purporting to be signed by L. C. Sorlien, band director, asking donations was presented. Names of some business men with amounts opposite them also were on the paper, and in instances the word "paid" marked after them.

When a member of the Association of Commerce turned down the solicitor and called Mr. Bradley and asked him if the solicitation was genuine, the latter immediately got in touch with Superintendent of Schools Saxvik and Mr. Sorlien. He was informed that they had not authorized any solicitation nor consented to any, and that the individual soliciting funds was obtaining money under false pretenses. Police today were searching for the individual, whose name was withheld pending arrest.

Mr. Bradley, in connection with this solicitation, issued a warning to all business men and others to guard against unauthorized and fraudulent solicitations.

"People are warned and urged to consult the Association of Commerce before contributing on such solicitation," he said. "If we have no knowledge of a genuine solicitation, we will investigate and find out. It is a part of the service we offer, and people are welcome to make use of the service."

Senator Has Pneumonia, Announcement From Office

Washington, Mar. 27.—Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin has developed pneumonia.

Senator LaFollette's office at the capital today issued the following physicians' bulletin:

"Senator LaFollette has developed pneumonia. His present condition is satisfactory."

STUDY BONUS
COST RECORDS

Washington, Mar. 27.—Army and Navy records were studied today by the Senate finance committee in an effort to determine the exact number of veterans entitled to a bonus as a means of ending to some extent growing out of the "huge differences" in estimates as to the cost of the bonus bill passed by the house.

Possibility That He Will Have Fourth in Electoral College Is Seen

DELEGATION SPLIT

Stands Now Eight Coolidge
to Five LaFollette; No
Further Change Seen

Fargo, Mar. 27.—Although defeated by Calvin Coolidge in the race for the North Dakota presidential endorsement Robert M. LaFollette will be represented in the national Republican convention by five supporters out of a qualified list of 13 and at the national electoral college by three adherents to the President's two.

This is shown by unofficial returns of tabulated returns from 35 precincts out of the state's 2,058. The remaining precincts are on the basis of the presidential vote evenly divided and are not expected to alter the standings of the delegate leaders. However, each delegate to the national convention is required to cast his first ballot for the President. Should no nomination result from the first ballot each delegate is entitled to his own discretion.

The five Republican electors, three of whom are for LaFollette, will, unless the Democrats emerge victorious in this state in November in the presidential race, cast ballots in the national electoral college. Owing to the fact that North Dakota is normally a Republican state it is reasonably certain that the five electors will go to Washington.

Although no material changes are expected in the Republican national delegates there is a strong possibility that O. McGrath of Glen Ullin, a LaFollette adherent, will overtake W. S. Jones of New England, a Coolidge supporter, in the race for fifth place in the electoral college.

The Republican electors, LaFollette, 43-212; Larson, LaFollette, 42,030; Stern, Coolidge, 41,345; Sorlie, Coolidge, 41,326; Taylor, Coolidge, 41,323; Spaulding, Coolidge, 41,301; Elliott, Coolidge, 40,474; Dinnie, Coolidge, 39,852; Ward, Coolidge, 39,783; Snowfield, LaFollette, 39,445; Severinsen, Coolidge, 39,431; Bryant, Coolidge, 39,409; Williams, LaFollette, 39,270.

Democratic delegates—Burke, 10-544; O'Connor, Murphy, 7,624; Fisk, Perry, 6,878; Hughes, Murphy, 6,680; Murphy, Perry, 6,411; McCoy, Murphy, 6,262; O'Connor, Perry, 6,312; Johnson, Murphy, 6,070; Lovitt, Murphy, 5,574; Lillibridge, Perry, 5,765.

Republican electors: Holl, LaFollette, 56,054; Larson, LaFollette, 53-370; Magnuson, LaFollette, 53,579; Christianson, Coolidge, 51,353; Jones, Coolidge, 48,287; McGrath, LaFollette, sixth, 46,281.

Democratic electors: McDonald, Murphy, 7,051; Kennedy, Perry, 6-946; Breen, Murphy, 5,922; Trimble, Perry, 5,857; Strauss, Perry, 5,718.

Washington, Mar. 26.—Favorable report of a resolution proposing a child labor amendment to the constitution was ordered today by the House judiciary committee.

ANNEXED
Fargo, N. D., March 27.—All of that territory included in the Village of North Fargo, a tract of 347 acres, was formally annexed to the city of Fargo today, by the city commission.

In taking this step the commission acted on the ruling of the newly elected village board, who contend that the election held in the village April 30, 1923, was a valid election.

The annual cost of fire defense in Great Britain is about $125,000,000.

SECOND EFFORT OF BANDITS IN
LAST 4 MONTHS

Small Loot Is Obtained, According to Information Here Late Today

TELEPHONE WIRES CUT

Temvik, Hazelton and Linton
Isolated For Time Due to Wire Cutting

Bank robbers entered the Templeton State Bank at Temvik, in Emmons county, for the second time within four months last night, but their loot was only about $20, according to information here this afternoon.

The cashier had not completed checking up, according to telephone reports to The Tribune, but he had expressed belief that only a small amount of money was taken. He was awaiting the arrival of insurance men.

Wires Are Cut
The cashier also was quoted as saying that it looked like the work of the same crowd which robbed the bank last December 6, when they got about $2,000.

Telephone wires were cut by the robbers before they entered the Temvik bank. Service to Hazelton, Linton and Temvik from Bismarck was not restored until this afternoon.

After the bank was robbed last December detectives worked on the case and two men were arrested, but officials were unable to proceed with their case because of lack of evidence.

The bank installed a new, big safe following the last robbery and the robbers did not get into this. It is understood most of the valuable securities were in it. The robbers, entering the vault by blowing their way, muzzed up papers and got a little money, it is said.

The robbery occurred between 2 and 4 a. m., but the telephone operator, living across the street, reported she did not hear any noise about that time. She was up until after midnight. The robbery was discovered after daybreak.

CITIZENS TO HEAR HOW TAX
FUND IS USED

Public Meeting Will be Held
in A. of C. Rooms Here
Friday Night

"Are you interested in tax reduction?"

"Do you want to know where your tax money goes in Bismarck, Burleigh county and the state?"

Any citizen who is interested will welcome the opportunity to attend the public meeting to be held Friday night at 8 p. m. in the Association of Commerce rooms under the auspices of the local tax studying committee named by Governor Nestos, committee men say.

A representative attendance is urged at the meeting, at which important questions will be discussed.

Representatives of the city and school board will be present to answer questions regarding the methods of running these subdivisions and discuss financial problems.

Representatives of the state tax department also have been invited to be present to talk over the situation.

In Minnesota, according to one member of the committee, many communities are forming permanent tax studying bodies. Wide-spread interest is being taken in tax problems.

COUNTY 'DADS'
ARE INDIGNANT

Charged with Misconduct in Office in Williams County

Fargo, Mar. 27.—Charges of "gross incompetency in the conduct and management of their offices" were reported against members of the Williams county board of commissioners by a special grand jury last night, according to a special dispatch to the Fargo Forum this afternoon.

It is expected that several indictments will follow.

Charges assert the commissioners mismanaged the county's affairs as primarily based on deposit of county funds approximately $120,000 in the Williams County State Bank without sufficient sureties on the depository bonds. A special jury has been in session since March 11 and adjourned last night, according to the dispatch.

FINANCING OF CITY'S PLANT NOW COMPLETE

Money for Special Assessment Warrants Is Paid Over to City Officials in Minneapolis

OPERATION HELD GOOD

Engineer's Estimate Is to Effect That Water Works Will Show Profit at End of Year

The final act in the financing program of the city commission in taking over the water works of the Bismarck Water Company and enlarging the plant was completed in Minneapolis today when the financial trustees of the city commission paid over to the city officials $200,000 for special assessment warrants issued, according to word received here. With the previous sale of a bond issue the city has now obtained all the money necessary to pay the expense of its water works program.

The total cost of the water works system complete is placed by J. R. Atkinson, city engineer, at $600,075. The financing was accomplished by two bond issues, one for $235,000 and one for $225,000, and issuance of special assessment warrants totaling $200,075, making the total financial obligations on account of the water works program $600,075.

After a study of operation of the water works system since December 1, 1923, when the plant was taken over and a study of the previous operation of the Bismarck Water Supply Company, the city engineer estimates that the city will be able to operate the plant on present rates, which are less by the 25 percent surcharge than formerly charged, and meet all fixed charges and operating expenses. Under the estimate, there would be a balance at the end of the year, after allowing for maintenance repairs of approximately $300,000. Increased consumption is expected by the city officials after the completion of the new plant and installation of favorable lawn and garden rates, and as the city grows so that they estimate that the expense in operating the water plant should grow more favorably each year.

Estimate of Operations.

The engineers estimate of what may be expected of the water works department for the first year of operation, ending December 1, 1924, follows:

Gross operating income	$69,175
Gross operating expense	25,110
Net operating income	44,065
Annual interest and principal payments	43,102.50
Balance	$ 2,962.50

The estimate is based upon the first three months operation of the plant under city control and previous operation in private hands, and the city engineer is satisfied that on this basis the city will profit by the plant's operation.

The final cost of the new system will be somewhat less than was anticipated. The original cost figured at the time of opening bids for the complete new plant was $695,000. After bids were received, negotiations were entered into which resulted in the purchase of the old plant for $265,000 and the installation of Diesel oil burning engine was decided on. Some reduction was made in the distribution system, leaving the net cost $660,075.

Additions to the distribution system in the form of additional distribution mains will be made in the future when property owners petition for the improvement, in the same manner as for the building of a sewer. Already several petitions have come before the city commission which would result in the addition of new customers to the city system.

Allow For Growth

One factor which causes officials to be somewhat optimistic is that the plant when completed, will have a greater capacity than the present consumption, so that as the consumption grows through growth of the city or increased sales no new capital expenditures will be necessary. This should result in a greater ratio of profit, it is stated.

The new plant probably will be completed by the first of June. A large part of the work has been done. Some delay is caused by failure of one contractor to complete the intake line and with the Missouri River likely to break up at any time it

German Hunger Pangs Are Relieved By Kin In This Country Through Allen Committee's Food Packages

While the above photograph does not resemble much the popular conception of a life saving station, that is exactly what it is.

It is the food package department of the American Committee for Relief of German Children, of which Major-General Henry T. Allen, former commander of the American forces on the Rhine, is chairman, and upon its activity depends in a large measure the success of the great American effort to relieve Germany's destitute population.

It is here that residents of America who have relatives or friends in Germany go to purchase food packages, requisitions for delivery to any designated individual within the German republic, occupied territory, and for ten dollars they are able to transport and deliver 119 pounds of American food.

During the trial 'Big Bill Dunne' and a number of other radicals charged with treason were heard. The result of the trial was a unanimous verdict deciding Wheeler was guilty and he was condemned as an unpatriotic citizen.

the relief they gave can not be measured, according to advices from representatives of the American committee. The delivery is insured by the German government, which also is paying all cost of transportation in that country.

Applications for the requisitions may be made either in person or by mail to the department's offices, Suite 938, 42 Broadway, New York City.

The need for adult relief cannot be too strongly emphasized, according to eminent authorities who have recently returned from Germany. One of these, Dr. Haven Emerson, former Commissioner of Health of New York City and an authority on community health, said of Germany that it was "a perfect organization for the spread of tuberculosis." Undernourishment also is making the population an easy prey to other dread maladies.

cannot be completed until after high water. Except for delay, the matter is not regarded seriously by the city engineers.

The plant is being operated by George Doolittle, superintendent, and the finances are in the hands of A. J. Arnot.

OIL BODY IS APPOINTED

Named by Coolidge to Consider Means of Conserving Supply

Washington, March 26.—Appointment of a commission to ascertain the best means of conserving the nation's oil supply was announced yesterday by President Coolidge.

The commission will be entrusted with review of the situation in each of the fields of reserves and with ascertaining whether it would be possible to acquire additional public and transfers trade purchases of otherwise to create larger or better protected reserves than the present ones.

Action was taken by the president in the appointment of the commission on the recommendation of the general staff of the army.

The commission will consist of George Otis Smith, director of the geological survey, Rear Admiral Harry P. Lee, U. S. S. president of the general board of the United States navy, and J. D. Bush of the Bureau of Reclamation of the state of California.

NO ACTION ON CHASE TAKEN

Washington, March 26.—The House judiciary committee today failed to take action today on the Senate resolution which proposes impeachment of Clarence C. Chase, son-in-law of Albert B. Fall, as customs collector at El Paso, Tex.

WHERE PARTIES DIFFER

By JOHN T. ADAMS,
Chairman of the Republican National Committee

The Republican and Democratic parties are not alike. They differ widely on many questions. These differences are fundamental. One of them is the respective attitude of the parties toward labor.

The Republican party came into existence over the issue of free versus slave labor. The South and the Democratic party stood for slavery. With them manual labor was menial. The North and the Republican party stood for free labor. They looked upon human toil as being dignified.

In the campaign of 1860, Lincoln clearly stated the issue to be between slave and free labor, and that if slavery were continued as a competitor to free labor it would undermine it, underwork it, degrade it, and destroy it.

So the two old parties assumed these widely different viewpoints toward labor from the start. That inherent fundamental difference has prevailed throughout the years, and still continues.

One of the cardinal principles of the Republican party is a protective tariff. It is primarily in

START MOVE TO GET FAVORABLE N. D. PUBLICITY

Valley City Town Criers Club Urges Conference of Civic Bodies

Valley City, N. D., Mar. 26.—The Valley City Town Criers Club has invited the officers and other representatives of clubs and civic organizations over the state to attend a conference in Valley City April 10. The purpose of the conference is to consider plans for a concerted publicity campaign in other states to overcome the unfavorable advertising North Dakota has had in the past.

The Valley City club's invitation is contained in a set of resolutions adopted at a recent meeting. These resolutions follow in part:

Whereas, The good name of the state of North Dakota, together with the credit of its people, has been injured by political demagogues, general government solicitation, and well intended price fixing propaganda; and

Whereas, We, the Valley City Town Criers Club believe that there is such good that can be said about our state, and feel that the time is opportune to initiate a state-wide movement to counteract this unfavorable condition; therefore

Be It Resolved, That we of the Valley City Town Criers Club urge such movement receive the favorable consideration of the several civic bodies of the state, and that a permanent state organization be perfected to initiate and carry on a constructive publicity campaign under a tried and experienced publicity man.

SEN. WHEELER IS ASSAILED

Republican News Bureau Attacks Daugherty Prosecutor

Washington, March 26.—Under the caption "What everybody should know about Senator Wheeler and his Montana gang," the Republican national committee news bureau last night issued a detailed attack on the prosecutor of the Daugherty investigating committee.

The gist of many charges is that while Senator Wheeler was United States attorney for Montana, the state became the hotbed of treason and sedition, the leaders of the "Montana gang," the "Bismarck Special," and the "Bismarck Special," and that Senator Wheeler refused to interfere.

It is stated in the statement, "the recent patriotic Americans of Butte took the matter in hand, ranged one of the leaders, ran the others out of town, and then called a meeting of the Montana state council of defense for the purpose of trying Wheeler for his actions."

The Montana state council of defense consisted of the governor, eight other men and one woman. It was evenly divided politically, being composed of five Republicans and five Democrats. The governor was a Democrat. Wheeler was put on trial

MARKET NEWS
WHEAT, OATS BOTH FALL
Receive Better Support, However, After Opening

Chicago, Mar. 27.—Wheat and oats fell in sympathy with corn in today's early dealings but then received better support. After opening at 3-8 cents to one-half cent off to 1-8 to 1-4 cent gain, May $1.11 1-8 to $1.11 1-4 and July $1.04 1-4 to $1.02 1-8 the market declined one cent in some cases before beginning to recover. May and July deliveries of wheat touched a new low record price for the season but the market appeared to hold well at $1.01 for May. The price was unsettled, one fourth cent lower to 1/4 up, May $1.01 1/4 to $1.01 1/2 and July $1.03 1/4 to $1.03 1/2.

MINNEAPOLIS FLOUR

G. C. WACHTER RETIRES FROM TRANSFER FIRM
G. C. Wachter, who established the Wachter Transfer Company, has returned from San Diego, California, where he spent the winter, and took his first real vacation in many years.
The Wachter Transfer Company has been taken over by the Wachter Transfer Corporation. Mr. Wachter, retiring from the business. Officers of the corporation are now constituted and are Eugene Wachter, president and Paul Wachter, vice-president and manager, both sons of the retiring head, and M. O. Gallickson, treasurer and secretary.
The corporation, which has been in charge of the business for sometime, plans no change in policy. G. C. Wachter gave up the management when he went to California and on his return his retirement from the business was announced.

STATE OPPOSED TO INCREASE IN ANY RATES
Would be Unwise During This Period of Adjustment, Thorpe Declares

The position of the state with regard to the Fargo rate case pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission was laid before the Interstate Commerce Commission by John Thorpe, first assistant Attorney General, at the hearing concluded recently in Washington.
Mr. Thorpe said that the state was passing through a period of economic adjustment and should not be disturbed by any rate changes which would increase existing charges.
As between the various communities affected by the report of the examiner in the Fargo rate case he said the state officially was neutral. While the report of the examiner, he said, tended to give some advantage in the nature of decrees to the western part of the state, the decrees were outweighed by a corresponding increase in the eastern part of the state which, an account of density of population and traffic therein, would be a disadvantage to the state as a whole.
Mr. Thorpe also stated that while the increases were in certain cases the tendency would be, if the report of the examiner were approved, to make them general and extend them to the whole Northwest territory.
Fargo and Grand Forks objected to parts of the examiner's report while Valley City and Jamestown favored it, he said. The state of South Dakota intervened, opposing the report.
Mr. Thorpe and E. H. Morris, chief engineer of the railroad commission, presented exhibits and evidence on Mothers!

Give the children WRIGLEY'S after every meal
A prominent physician says:
"It is surprising how free from decay the teeth can be kept by using gum after each meal."
You know how hard it is to get the children to clean their teeth. By giving them WRIGLEY'S you not only reward them for cleaning their teeth, but the reward is actually the means of performing this important service!
WRIGLEY'S aids digestion too, and acts as an antiseptic wash for the mouth and throat. Several flavors—all of WRIGLEY quality.

WHEAT, OATS

BOTH FALL

Receive Better Support, However, After Opening

Chicago, Mar. 27.—Wheat and oats fell in sympathy with corn in today's early dealings but then received better support. After opening at 3-8 cents to one-half cent off to 1-8 to 1-4 cent gain, May $1.11 1-8 to $1.11 1-4 and July $1.04 1-4 to $1.03 3-8 the market declined one cent in some cases before beginning to recover.

May and July deliveries of wheat touched a new low record price for the season but the market appeared to hold well at $1.01 for May. The close was unsettled, one fourth cent lower to 3-4 up, May $1.01 3-4 to $1.01 1-2 and July $1.03 3-4 to $1.03 3-8.

Cattle receipts 9,000. Fairly active. Best matured steers part load $11.00 to $11.75.

Sheep receipts 12,000. Fairly active. Killing classes generally steady. Top $16.50.

ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK
St. Paul, Mar. 27.—Cattle receipts 2,200. Moderately active. Most killing classes. Spots stronger on fat she-stock, few matured steers early $10.25. 78 head of handyside steers $8.85. Bulk $8.00 and down. Fat she-stock active, $3.50 to $7.50. Bulk $6.50 and down. Bologna bulls weak, tending lower. Few medium handyside steers early $4.00 to $4.25. Canners and cutters $2.85 to $3.25. Stockers and feeders slow and weak. Practically nothing done early. Calves receipts 1,800. Steady to strong. Best light $8.50 to $9.00. Bulk $8.75 and up.

Hog receipts 11,500. 70 to 20 cents higher. Bulk butcher and bacon hogs $7.00 to $7.10. Better grades 100 to 225 pound averages, realizing the top of $7.10. Bulk, rough or heavy packing, some $6.00. Better grades of feeder or slaughter pigs $6.50.

Sheep receipts 800. Slow, about steady. Good native lambs salable at $15.00 to $15.25. Three decks of good to choice clipped lambs held around $14.00. Medium weight fat ewes salable about $10.00.

STATE OPPOSED

TO INCREASE

IN ANY RATES

Would be Unwise During This Period of Adjustment, Thorpe Declares

The position of the state with regard to the Fargo rate case pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission was laid before the Interstate Commerce Commission by John Thorpe, first assistant Attorney-General, at the hearing concluded recently in Washington.

Mr. Thorpe said that the state was passing through a period of economic adjustment and should not be disturbed by any rate changes which would increase existing charges.

As between the various communities affected by the report of the examiner in the Fargo rate case he said the state officially was neutral. While the report of the examiner, he said, tended to give some advantage in the nature of decreases to the western part of the state, the decreases were accounted for by a corresponding increase in the eastern part of the state which, an account of density of population and traffic therein, would be a disadvantage to the state as a whole.

Mr. Thorpe also stated that while the increases were in certain cases the tendency would be, if the report of the examiner were approved, to make them general and extend them to the whole Northwest territory.

Fargo and Grand Forks objected to parts of the examiner's report while Valley City and Jamestown favored it, he said. The state of South Dakota intervened, opposing the report.

Mr. Thorpe and E. H. Morris, chief engineer of the railroad commission, presented exhibits and evidence on

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

THE STRONGEST REPUBLICAN
Whatever the final outcome of the South Dakota vote may be, it is evident that President Coolidge by the strength he has shown in the twin Northwestern states together with his well known strength in the east and middle west has established that among the candidates for the Republican nomination now in the field, he is the leader.

There is convincing evidence in the balloting that a large block of farmers in the Northwest believe that the President is honestly trying to administer the affairs of the nation in straight-forward fashion for the benefit of all.

What might happen in the Northwest if a third party entered the field is a matter of conjecture. It does not follow, from the protest registered, that the third party candidate, even if it is LaFollette, would sweep this section. Strong as he is, the result of vote-splitting which would come if a third party entered the field is at this time merely a matter of speculation.

FIRE

Uncle Sam's 146 national forest reserves were visited by nearly 10 million people last year, it is announced. Eight millions came in privately owned autos.

The auto is taking us back to nature. As we increasingly invade the forests and use them for playgrounds, let's remember that fire is the most formidable agency of forest destruction and prevention of reforestation.

Four-fifths of the big forest fires are started by people careless with campfire, matches, cigarettes and other tobacco. Be cautious in the woods.

RACE BETWEEN CITIES

Los Angeles, racing with Detroit for position as fourth largest city, claims it will pass Detroit before the end of 1924. At that time Los Angeles expects to have at least 1,275,000 population.

The entire Pacific Coast is growing with amazing speed. It is quite possible that "the coast" eventually will have the nation's largest city, even larger than New York. Such would be a logical development if, as many experts predict, our foreign trade future lies in the Orient instead of Europe.

SHRINKING

Another big natural resource, lead, is vanishing rapidly. Prospectors constantly seek, without success, new big deposits of lead ore.

Of minerals, oil, gas, chemicals and other things, there is just so much in the earth. They'll be used up, not in our day, but some time inevitably. What will the world do then? One natural resource—forests—will disappear within the lives of most of us, unless trees are planted on a much bigger scale.

"GAS"

Nearly seven gallons of gasoline a month are being manufactured for every man, woman and child in America. It's an increase of more than a tenth in a year.

The earth still holds fabulous quantities of oil. But the oil was placed there ages ago and is not being replaced. What will be the future motor fuel when gasoline "gives out" or becomes prohibitively high in price? The real return of John Barley corn may be, to take the place of gasoline. If so, a large part of the population has already learned how to make its future fuel.

STOLEN AUTOMOBILES

Enright, New York's police commissioner, has another good idea: "I would have a law preventing the transfer of ownership of autos until proof of ownership is presented. Nobody would then steal a car unless he was able properly to license it."

Such a law, coupled with prohibition of the sale of pistols to any except officers of the law, would reduce crime a lot. The auto and pistol are the modern weapons of crime.

HOW MANY ESCAPED?

Proudly the national prohibition officers announce that in 1923 they arrested 64,523 people charged with violating the liquor laws.

How many violators escaped arrest? They certainly number into the millions. A national referendum is the only way to learn whether the prohibition amendment is government by majority or by minority.

FOR THE FUTURE

The Gray children give $70 to the city council of New Haven, Conn. They request that the $70 be placed in a savings bank for 300 years, when it will have increased, by compound interest, to 14 million dollars. Then it's to be used for charity.

Why not make a similar arrangement for paying off at least part of our national, state and municipal debts?

MANY IDLE MEN

Germany announces she has 15 million people living on charity, and 5 million able-bodied men without jobs.

Any move to untangle the European situation must be based on providing work for every German able to work. Reparations, in the long run, are paid by human labor converted into cash, rather than by financial juggling. Some fool economists think it's mainly a matter of bookkeeping.

PIPES TABOO

Prohibition takes strange and futile forms. In Bulgaria the government forbids the sale of cigars and pipes. The purpose is to check the rapidly growing popularity of pipes and cigars. Bulgarians are deserting the cigaret. That annoys their government, which controls the cigaret industry and reaps big profits from it.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

FINANCING THE BONDS

The House by a heavy majority has passed a bill obligating the Treasury to the extent of more than two billion dollars in the form of paid-up endowment life insurance maturing in twenty years, with a cash bonus of not more than fifty dollars to short-service veterans and not entitled to insurance.

But the House has made no provision whatever for establishing the sinking fund of more than a hundred millions a year that would be necessary to finance this measure.

On the contrary, it has passed a measure which, if enacted, would mean a deficit of fifty-five millions next year. How, then, is the bonus to be financed, even if its aggregate has been reduced by more than half from that of the measure passed by the last House and vetoed by Mr. Harding.

Certain members of the Senate Finance Committee have a plan all mapped out. Their idea is not to pay down the war debt so rapidly as is now being done. At the present rate of payment, we shall clean up the entire war debt, except the eleven billions coming from our late allies, in some thirty-two years. The extinction of the foreign war debt will take longer, depending on how soon other debtors follow Great Britain's example and begin payments.

In order to finance the bonus, these Senators plan to cut the sinking fund rate in half, and thus prolong the period of war debt payment by many years. They urge that posterity should carry a larger share of the war load. The fact that posterity is not here and has no voice in the matter, does not in fact vote and will not do so for some time may explain this Senatorial willingness to pass the load along.

But there is the present status of national credit to consider, and the obligations of the Nation to holders of Liberty bonds. These are matters affecting us here to day, and the evils inherent in a policy of delaying war debt payment could not all be passed on to posterity. We should experience them ourselves.

The new bonus measure is perhaps the best yet devised, since it cuts down the total gift and distributes the financial burden to better advantage. But the fact that the holders of these policies may in two years borrow up to ninety per cent of their paid-up value, brings in an economic problem of great importance to be calculated. The inflation of credit thus threatened is certainly something to be reckoned with.

The need for Congress to pass a real tax reform measure, one that will not create a deficit, but will turn live capital back into the channels of business and industrial enterprise, is greater than ever, in view of the bonus situation.—Minneapolis Journal.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Oh, dear!" said the napkin rabbit, "Doofunny Land would be a grand place, if it were not for that dreadful rubber dog."

"And I think that it would be a fine place, if it were not for that awful cat," squeaked the little tin mouse. "Every time I move I seem to run into him, and he has such terrible eyes and long spiky whiskers. I get paralyzed with fright, so I do."

"If you want to know what real trouble is," croaked a hoarse voice, "just look at me. I am still shivering. I just hopped past that old wooden waddle duck and he snapped at me with his old scissor bill. I thought when I came to Doofunny Land that I should be safe. But it seems that I was mistaken. Ducks are far, far fiercer than dogs and cats. I'm now in the puffy cotton nest of Mister Fuzz Wuzz, the pipe-cleaner man, turned to the Twins."

"Do you hear that?" he said. "It's time I was putting an end to all this nonsense. If Doofunny can't be a peaceful place—what is the use of it, I'd like to know?"

"Yes, I should like to know, too," agreed Nancy. "The Fairy Queen told us that Doofunny Land was a funny place."

"And so it should be—the merriest place in all Fairyland. Come! I have an idea. What's the sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. Let's go and see what the place is like, and by and by he came to the place where the teddy-bear was."

"Busy, Mister Bear?" asked Mister Fuzz Wuzz.

"Nup," said the bear. "Not doing a thing."

"Well, then," said the little man, "I've got a job for you!" And he went close to the bear's ear and whispered and whispered.

"Ha, ha, ha! Why of course I'll do it," laughed the bear in a minute. "Sure, Mister Fuzz Wuzz, I'll go right away."

Still the Twins didn't know what the secret was about, but no sooner had Teddy gone than the pipe-cleaner man beckoned to them, and all three followed on tip-toe.

Pretty soon they came to a place where the patent-leather cat and the rubber dog and the wooden waddle duck were having an argument.

Suddenly a horrible voice said, "Ah, ha! Now I've got you! I'm going to eat you all up—all three of you."

The Twins and Mister Fuzz Wuzz stopped and hid. The secret was a secret no longer. It was Teddy Bear who was talking so fiercely and pretending that he was a big, growly, hungry bear.

"Oh, goodness!" quacked the duck, turning yellow as ever.

Spring Showers

"Yip! Yip!" barked the rubber dog, turning redder than ever, then whistling through the whistle in the top of his head as he always did when excited.

"Mew! Mew!" shrieked the black cat, turning, if possible, blacker than ever. "Oh, please don't eat us, Mister Bear!"

"Yes, I'm going to eat you all," growled the Teddy Bear, making his voice as big as he could. No one could see him and they all thought he was as big as an elephant.

"And now," said he, "I'll tell you why I am going to eat you."

MANY ATTEND MASONIC FETE

Annual Past Masters Night Is Held in Mandan

One hundred and fifty Masons of Mandan, Bismarck and other cities attended the annual Past Masters night of Mandan lodge last night. A banquet was served in the Mandan Masonic Temple.

About 15 Bismarck Masons, including F. J. Grady, master of the lodge and L. K. Thompson, district deputy, were present and praised the Mandan Masons highly.

Dr. H. L. Diebert of Mandan, a charter member and past master of the Hebron lodge, was presented with a past master's jewel by that lodge. Emil Krauth making the presentation.

Past master Jewels also were presented to Grant Palmer, past high priest of the Missouri chapter, and C. G. Hughes, past master of Mandan lodge.

Col. I. N. Steen of Carson, assisted by E. A. Ripley, past head of the grand lodge in the state, were in charge of the third degree work.

Dr. John Robinson of Garrison, district deputy, was present.

PIONEER DIES

Hans Nelson, aged 71, a resident of Mandan since 1883 passed away yesterday following an illness of about ten days. A cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of his death.

Ten days ago Nelson was found helplessly stricken at his home on Seventh street N. W. where he had lived alone for several years.

He was unmarried and has no relatives in this country but numbers, beside in Denmark. For many years he was in the employ of the several managers of the Mandan hotel.

BEWARE THE EISTEDDFOD!

FEW MORE WEEKS TO PREPARE FOR IT

You may think the Eisteddfod sounds like it is some prehistoric animal, but when it happens no telling how it will sound. It may sound like all get-out. This Eisteddfod is a Welsh singing convention which will be held in Philadelphia, May 17.

While having nothing to do with Gen. Butler's clean-up campaign, many Philadelphians will probably feel like joining in the Eisteddfod chorus.

All readers who have been practicing the singing lessons found in Tom Sims Newspaper daily will be eligible, provided they have used the precaution of selecting their parents from good Welsh stock.

We wrote to Lloyd George for some special suggestions on how to become a good Welsh singer, but he answered: "Dear Tom—At singing I am not so good. Enemies have been after me for two years to sing my Song, but I am even refusing to do that." Lloyd.

The INFANTRY

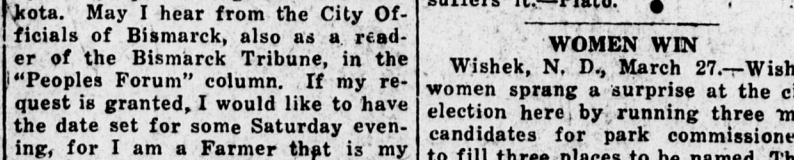

Perhaps poor mother works all day to get the house in shape. She likes to have it looking trim and fit. And when she's done, she isn't, but she's in an awful scrape, cause tiny meddling hands have ruined it. And too, she'll likely tell an hour to put her hair up right; to make it stay the way it ought to be. Then, suddenly, it loses all its style and is a fright because these hands have pulled the hairpins free.

The bedroom closet's tidied up; she's laid all things away. The shoes, the gowns and other things all placed. And then a little tiny mite creeps slowly o'er that way, and soon the whole affair is much disgraced.

In living-room, in dining-room, throughout the "Home-Sweet-Home," from one end to the other, sounds are heard. A cheerful little laughter, while the baby's on its room, announces that mother wrecking has occurred.

Does mother mind these baby pranks, and does it make her mad? Well, hardly, folks! She takes such things with ease. The fact that baby's learned to creep has only made her glad, and tiny hands can do just as they please.

WOMEN WIN

Wishek, N. D., March 27.—Wishek women sprang a surprise at the city election here, by running three men candidates for park commissioners, to fill three places to be named. They elected two of their candidates. Only one candidate had been nominated at the caucus, besides it was thought that there was only one vacancy. The women learned that three vacancies existed because park commissioners elected last year failed to qualify. Election results follow: trustees first ward, John Weber 56, and F. N.

XLVII (continued)

She looked up into his eyes, anxious but imperious, and answered softly, "Why not?"

"Exactly. I've no desire to take that long journey with you, but I'm not going to take any chances, either."

"Ah! Here's an idea that beats the other hollow. When the party breaks up we'll go down to Huntersville with them, marry there, and return to camp. I don't see how your Dolomites could beat this for a honeymoon. Why in thunder should we trail all the way over to Europe to find seclusion when we must return in two or three months, anyhow? It's a scandalous waste. We can go to the Dolomites for our second honeymoon—we'll have one every year. And this is much more in the picture if you want to be Mary Ogden again. She never would have proposed anything so elaborate and unnecessary. Say yes, and don't be more than a minute about it."

Mary drew in her breath sharply. The plan made a violent and irresistible appeal. There would be no long interval for possible reversal, for contacts in which it might be difficult to hold fast for her new faith. But what excuse could she make to leave him later? Later? Did she care? Let the future take care of itself. Her horizon, a luminous band, encircled these mountains. She smiled into his ardent eyes. "Very well, I'll write to Hortense today and tell her to send me up a troussseau of sorts. And now—you are to understand that you have not dared to propose to me yet and are suffering all the qualms of uncertainty for I am a desperate flirt, and took a long walk in the woods this morning with Mr. Scores."

"Very well, Miss Ogden, I will now do my best to make a fool of myself, and as soon as we return hours. There was no need for careful avoidance of dangerous subjects. Clavering had come to these woods nearly every year since he had made the north his home, and she had forgotten nothing of her woodland lore. When one is "in the woods," as the great Adirondacks are familiarly called, one rarely talks of anything but their manifold offerings. It is easy enough to forget the world. They both had their long tramps, their rough campings-out, more or less exciting adventures. When a loud bell, hung in a frame outside the camp, summoned them to dinner, they walked out briskly. Once, as the trail widened, he touched her fingers tentatively. She let her own curl for a moment, then gave him a provocative glance over her shoulder and hurried on.

XLVIII

Clavering, when making up his list with Mr. Dinwiddie (by courtesy), had, with the exception of Todd, who was always the life of any party, Gora, whom he always liked to have at hand, and Eva Darling, who was a favorite of "The Ambassador" to the Court of the Sophisticates," as Todd had long since dubbed him, chosen his guests at random, taking whom he could get, carefully mulling to ask those who, so far as he knew, were on speaking terms.

But he hardly could have gathered together a more congenial and lively party, nor one more delighted to leave New York for the woods. Henry Minor, editor of one of the intellectual and faintly radical magazines, whose style was so involved in his efforts to be both "different" and achieve an unerring glitter, that he had recently received a petition to issue a glossary, was as amiable as a puppy in the society of his friends and when in the woods talked in words of one syllable and discovered a mighty appetite. His wife, who had demonstrated her originality by calling herself Mrs. Minor, was what is known as a spiffing cook and a top-notch dresser. She had, in fact, the most charming assortment of sports clothes in the camp. Eva Darling, who danced for pastime and illustrated for what little bread she was permitted to eat at home, was as lively as a grasshopper and scarcely less devastating. Babette Gold wore her black hair in smooth bands on either side of the perfect oval of her face, and had the sad and yearning gaze of the unforgotten Magdalen, and she had written two novels dealing with the domesticities of the lower middle class, treating with clinical wealth of detail the trite monotonies of the nuptial couch and the artless intimacies of the nursery. She smoked incessantly, could walk ten miles at a stretch, and was as passionless as a clam. Gerald Scores, who wore a short pointed beard and looked the complete artist, was one of the chief hopes of the intellectual drama community; Clavering, shut out his genius in a water-tight compartment, and enjoying himself in the woods. He was mildly flirtatious, but looked upon emotional intensity in the personal life of the artist as a criminal waste of force. Halifax Bolton, who claimed to be the discoverer of the Younger Generation (in fiction) and was just twenty-eight himself, was a critic of formidable severity and the author of at least one classic. The intense concentration of writing routed his sense of humor, but he had as many droll stories in his repertoire as Todd. His wife, the famous "Alberta Jones," fierce Lucy Stoner, was the editor at a phenomenal salary, of one of the "Woman's Magazine," and wrote short stories of impeccable style and indifferent content for the Century and the Dial.

When Mary and Clavering arrived at the camp in response to the dinner bell, Eva Darling, who wore very pretty pink silk bloomers under her sport skirt, was turning hand-springs down the living room, while the rest of the party applauded rapturously and Mrs. Larling, who was entering with the fried chicken, nearly dropped the platter.

"Just in time, Madame Zattiany," cried Minor. "This is the sixth round and she is panting."

But she interrupted him. "Mary! make me feel an outsider. I want to be addressed in that formal manner, nor answer to that foreign name again."

"Mary! Mary! Mary!" shouted the party with one accord, and Clavering drew a long breath. He had wondered how she would manage to feel Mary Ogden under the constant bombardment of a name that was a title in more ways than one. But he might have trusted her to manage it!

"Their footsteps made no sound on the mossy path."

to camp will telegraph to New York for a five-pound box of chocolates."

"Hark! Hark! The Lark!" shouted Todd as he roved past with Babette Gold. "Only there isn't a lark or any other bird in these woods that I've been able to discover."

"Birds sing one at a time," shouted back Clavering. "Choir of jealous soloists."

He rowed into a little cove and they gazed into the dim green woods, but the maple leaves grew almost to the ground, and it was like peering through the tiny changing spaces of a moving curtain through which one glimpsed green columns flecked with gold.

He beached the boat, and they walked, single file, up a narrow run-way made by the deer. Everywhere was that leafy whispering curtain. Between the rigid spruce and soft maples were fragrant but same and ferns, and an occasional pine with its pale green spikes. They passed enormous boulders detached from the glaciers that had ground mountains in their embrace, but today things of mere beauty in their coats of pink and green and golden moss.

Their footsteps made no sound on the mossy path, and they came suddenly upon a deer and his doe drinking at a pool. But the antlered head was flung back instantly, the magnificent buck wheeled on his hind legs, gave a leap and went crashing through the forest, snorting his protesting fury. The doe scampered after, her white-lined tail standing up perfectly straight.

They sat down on a log, dried and warmed by the sun in this open space, and talked for two

Mrs. Conklin Hostess To Club And Guests

Annual guest day was observed by members of the Fortnightly Club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. L. Conklin, 11 Avenue A. West. This was the regular meeting day for the club and members were privileged to each bring a guest. Several out of town club members were present, including Mrs. Lyman Cary, president of the State Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. W. H. Stutsman of Mandan.

The Fortnightly Club have been making a study of the Near East the past year and at this, their guest day, a most interesting display of art from the Near East was effectively arranged. Pictures, rugs, needle work of various kinds, jewelry and pottery were displayed. These had been collected by members of the club from residents of the city. All proved very interesting to the guests.

Mrs. P. E. Byrne, president of the club, presided at the meeting and welcomed the guests in behalf of the club after which an interesting article on "Rug Making" was given by Mrs. G. A. Rawlings. Mrs. L. S. Crawford then read extracts from her son's letters written while he was making a tour of the Near East in which he described a number of the leading cities in the Near East and a description of the Pyramids while he was in Egypt. These pictures were greatly enjoyed as they were splendidly written.

Miss Minnie Neilson, a member of the club, gave an interesting talk along the lines of Education for Universal Peace, followed by a few well chosen remarks by Mrs. Cary.

At the conclusion of the program, guests were privileged to enjoy a Turkish Tea. This was a most novel and delightful affair, but no secrets concerning the same were divulged. Mrs. Byrne announcing that the refreshments had arrived that morning direct from the Near East.

The study as outlined by the program committee, for the year has proven most interesting to all members and the club has enjoyed the work exceedingly.

ENTERTAIN AT WHIST

Mrs. H. R. Cunz and Miss Alice Kunz were joint hostesses at a most pleasant whist party last evening at their home, 424 Tenth Street. Honors were won by Mrs. John Maassen and Mrs. Walter Knott at a game in which four tables were played. Refreshments were served by the hostesses at midnight.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

The condition of Mrs. C. B. Haney who was taken to a hospital last week following a cerebral hemorrhage, in an unconscious condition, remained practically unchanged.

A sister from Omaha, Nebraska and a brother from Minneapolis have arrived in the city to remain with Mr. Haney for some time.

VISITS SISTER

Miss Ruth Hagen of Painted Woods stopped here yesterday to visit her sister, Mrs. G. Olgerson, before proceeding to Minneapolis where she will study nursing at the University of Minnesota.

LETTER FROM JAMES CONDON TO RALLY ATHERTON MY DEAR SALLY:

It is just as I told you it would be—the moment you got away from me you would forget all about me. Do you realize that you have been away for over two months and not a word has anyone heard from you? At least I have not heard from you, and as Sam has made no mention of your name to me, I did not feel privileged to ask him if he had heard.

Sam seems to regard me with great suspicion since you left. Sometimes look up and find him glowering at me, and I have an intuition that he is blaming me for your departure. God knows he shouldn't blame me for that, for if I could have done anything to have kept you here, you know that I would have been glad to do so. Now please don't say "Poor boy!" in that motherly tone of yours. I know when you were here and said it, it always quickened me. Now you are away, and you cannot exercise over me the spell of your voice and the maternal look that you could call up at will into your eyes. We're just men and women at this minute, Sally Atherton. I'm not a boy any longer, and perhaps I feel your newness more, although you are hundreds of miles away, than when you were with me.

You're a rather cruel woman, do you know it? You pride yourself upon never allowing your heart to rule your head, and yet you like to feel your power. You like to feel some man is interested in you. Oh, of course I wouldn't have told you this when we were together, for I should have hated to look upon the cool scorn with which you would have fawned me. But you must acknowledge that what I'm saying is true.

Sally Atherton, you can no more live without the admiration and devotion of some man about you than you can live without food and drink. This was the reason you tired of Sam when he, poor chap, allowed the scridiness and care of everyday bread and butter to come between him and his love for you.

You're a queer combination, my dear woman. You were really an angel to Sam when he was blind, and yet I could see as his eyes grew stronger that you withdrew within yourself all the time.

You let me love you. Oh yes you did! Don't protest. I'll confess I didn't need much encouragement. You are the kind of a woman that always piques a man's curiosity, and of course you know, my dear, that curiosity is man's greatest tempter. The man goes with his love and with his passion, but there is something about his curiosity that must be sated. You are probably asking yourself where I have learned all this. I've learned it from you, my dear. I did not know that I had learned it until you had left me.

I am very lonely, Sally. Surely you might write me just a little note to tell me how you like your new job. Sam will never mention your name, I am sure of it. Unless I hear from you directly, you will be as far from me as though you had winged your flight to another planet.

Protection at Low Cost

Receiving valuables for safekeeping is the oldest function of a bank. People have always had need of a safe place in which to put those things which they did not wish to lose by fire or theft.

Our Safety Deposit Department is equipped to give adequate protection. Boxes are contained in heavy steel compartments which in turn are housed in a vault equipped with a McClintock burglar alarm system, the efficiency of which has been demonstrated.

Rentals are moderate. The protection of a safety deposit box can be had at a cost as low as $2.00 a year.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

THE STRONGEST REPUBLICAN
Whatever the final outcome of the South Dakota vote may be, it is evident that President Coolidge by the strength he has shown in the twin Northwestern states together with his well known strength in the east and middle west has established that among the candidates for the Republican nomination now in the field, he is the leader.

There is convincing evidence in the balloting that a large block of farmers in the Northwest believe that the President is honestly trying to administer the affairs of the nation in straight-forward fashion for the benefit of all.

What might happen in the Northwest if a third party entered the field is a matter of conjecture. It does not follow, from the protest registered, that the third party candidate, even if it is LaFollette, would sweep this section. Strong as he is, the result of vote-splitting which would come if a third party entered the field is at this time merely a matter of speculation.

FIRE
Uncle Sam's 146 national forest reserves were visited by nearly 10 million people last year, it is announced. Eight millions came in privately owned autos.

The auto is taking us back to nature. As we increasingly invade the forests and use them for playgrounds, let's remember that fire is the most formidable agency of forest destruction and prevention of reforestation.

Four-fifths of the big forest fires are started by people careless with campfire, matches, cigarettes and other tobacco. Be cautious in the woods.

RACE BETWEEN CITIES
Los Angeles, racing with Detroit for position as fourth largest city, claims it will pass Detroit before the end of 1924. At that time Los Angeles expects to have at least 1,275,000 population.

The entire Pacific Coast is growing with amazing speed. It is quite possible that "the coast" eventually will have the nation's largest city, even larger than New York. Such would be a logical development if, as many experts predict, our foreign trade future lies in the Orient instead of Europe.

SHRINKING
Another big natural resource, lead, is vanishing rapidly. Prospectors constantly seek, without success, new big deposits of lead ore.

Of minerals, oil, gas, chemicals and other things, there is just so much in the earth. They'll be used up, not in our day, but some time inevitably. What will the world do then?

One natural resource—forests—will disappear within the lives of most of us, unless trees are planted on a much bigger scale.

"GAS"
Nearly seven gallons of gasoline a month are being manufactured for every man, woman and child in America. It's an increase of more than a tenth in a year.

The earth still holds fabulous quantities of oil. But the oil was placed there ages ago and is not being replaced. What will be the future motor fuel when gasoline "gives out" or becomes prohibitively high in price? The real return of John Barley corn may be, to take the place of gasoline. If so, a large part of the population has already learned how to make its future fuel.

STOLEN AUTOMOBILES
Enright, New York's police commissioner, has another good idea: "I would have a law preventing the transfer of ownership of autos until proof of ownership is presented. Nobody would then steal a car unless he was able properly to license it."

Such a law, coupled with prohibition of the sale of pistols to any except officers of the law, would reduce crime a lot. The auto and pistol are the modern weapons of crime.

HOW MANY ESCAPED?
Proudly the national prohibition officers announce that in 1923 they arrested 64,323 people charged with violating the liquor laws.

How many violators escaped arrest? They certainly number into the millions. A national referendum is the only way to learn whether the prohibition amendment is government by majority or by minority.

FOR THE FUTURE
The Gray children give $70 to the city council of New Haven, Conn. They request that the $70 be placed in a savings bank for 300 years, when it will have increased, by compound interest, to 14 million dollars. Then it's to be used for charity.

Why not make a similar arrangement for paying off at least part of our national, state and municipal debts?

MANY IDLE MEN
Germany announces she has 15 million people living on charity, and 5 million able-bodied men without jobs.
Any move to untangle the European situation must be based on providing work for every German able to work. Reparations, in the long run, are paid by human labor converted into cash, rather than by financial juggling. Some fool economists think it's mainly a matter of bookkeeping.

PIPES TABOO
Prohibition takes strange and futile forms. In Bulgaria the government forbids the sale of cigars and pipes. The purpose is to check the rapidly growing popularity of pipes and cigars. Bulgarians are deserting the cigaret. That annoys their government, which controls the cigaret industry and reaps big profits from it.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are published in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues, which are being discussed in the press of the day.

FINANCING THE BONUS

The House by a heavy majority has passed a bonus bill obligating the Treasury to the extent of more than two billion dollars in the form of paid-up endowment life insurance maturing in twenty years with a cash bonus of not more than fifty dollars to short-service veterans and not entitled to insurance.

But the House has made no provision whatever for establishing the sinking fund of more than a hundred millions a year that would be necessary to finance this measure.

On the contrary, it has passed a mangled tax reduction measure which, if enacted, would mean a deficit of fifty-five million next year. How, then, is the bonus to be financed, even if its aggregate has been reduced by more than half from that of the measure passed by the last House and vetoed by Mr. Harding.

Certain members of the Senate Finance Committee have a plan all mapped out. Their idea is not to pay off the war debt so rapidly as is now being done. At the present rate of payment, we shall clean up the war debt, except the eleven billions coming from our late allies, in some thirty-two years. The extinction of the foreign war debt will take longer, depending on how soon other debtor nations follow Great Britain's example and begin payments.

In order to finance the bonus, these Senators plan to cut the sinking fund rate in half and thus prolong the period of war debt payment by many years. They argue that posterity should carry a large share of the war load. The fact that posterity is not here and has no voice in the matter, does not in the least make it any more a posterity matter. It is a matter of the present, and will not do so for some time, may explain this Senatorial willingness to pass the load along.

But there is the present status of national credit to consider, and the obligation of the Nation to holders of Liberty bonds. These two matters affecting us here today, and the evils inherent in a policy of delaying war debt payment could not all be passed on to posterity. We should experience them ourselves.

The new bonus measure is perhaps the best yet devised, since it cuts down the total gift and distributes the financial burden to better advantage. But the fact that the holders of these policies may be two years borrow up to ninety per cent of their paid-up value, brings in an economic factor of a potency not now to be calculated. The inflation of credit thus threatened is certainly something to be reckoned with.

The need for Congress to pass a real tax reform measure, one that will not create a deficit, but will turn live capital back into the channels of business and industrial enterprise, is greater than ever, in view of the bonus situation.—Minneapolis Journal.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Oh, dear!" said the napkin rabbit, "Doofunny Land would be a grand place, if it were not for that dreadful rubber dog."

"And I think that it would be a fine place if it were not for that awful cat," squeaked the little mouse. "Every time I move I seem to run into him, and he has such terrible eyes and long spiky whiskers. I get paralyzed with fright."

"If you want to know what real trouble is," croaked a hoarse voice, "just look at me. I am still shivering. I just hopped past that old wooden waddle duck and he snapped at me with his old scissor bill. I thought when I came to Doofunny Land that I should be safe. But it seems that I was mistaken. Ducks are far, far fiercer than dogs and cats," said the puffy cotton frog.

"Mister Fuzz Wuzz, the pipe-cleaner man, turned to the twins. "It's time I was putting an end to all this nonsense. If Doofunny can't be a peaceful place—what is the use of it, I'd like to know?"

"Yes, I should like to know, too," agreed Nancy. "The Fairy Queen told us that Doofunny Land was a funny place."

"And so it should be—the most perfect place in all Fairyland. Come! I have an idea. What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

The twins followed him, and by and by he came to the place where the teddy bear was.

"Bury, Mister Bear?" asked Mister Fuzz Wuzz.

"Nup," said the bear. "Not doing a thing."

"Well, then," said the little man, "I've got a job for you!" And he went close to the bear's ear and whispered and whispered.

"Ha, ha, ha! Why of course I'll do it," laughed the bear in a minute. "Sure, Mister Fuzz Wuzz, I'll go right away."

Still the twins didn't know what the secret was about, but no sooner had Teddy gone than the pipe-cleaner man beckoned to them, and all the following day they were busy.

Pretty soon they came to a place where the patent-leather cat and the rubber dog and the wooden waddle duck were having an argument.

Suddenly a horrible voice said, "Ah, ha! Now I've got you!" I'm going to eat you all up—all three of you."

The twins and Mister Fuzz Wuzz stopped and hid. The secret was a secret no longer. It was Teddy Bear who was talking so fiercely and pretending that he was a big growling hungry bear.

"Oh, goodness!" quaked the duck, turning yellower than ever.

Spring Showers

WILLIE SMITH ARE YOUR FEET WET?

"Yip! Yip!" barked the rubber dog, turning redder than ever, then whistling through the whistle in the top of his head as he always did when excited.

"Mew! Mew!" shrieked the black cat, turning, if possible, blacker than ever. "Oh, please don't eat us, Mister Bear!"

"Yes, I'm going to eat you all," growled the Teddy Bear, making his voice as big as he could. No one could see him and they all thought he was as big as an elephant.

"And now," said he, "tell me why I am going to eat you."

MANDAN NEWS

MANY ATTEND MASONIC FETE

Annual Past Masters Night Is Held in Mandan

One hundred and fifty Masons of Mandan, Bismarck and other cities attended the annual Past Masters night of Mandan lodge last night. A banquet was served in the Mandan Masonic Temple.

About 15 Bismarck Masons, including F. J. Grady, master of the lodge and L. K. Thompson, district deputy were present and praised the Mandan Masons highly.

Dr. H. L. Diebert of Mandan, a charter member and past master of the Hebron lodge, was presented with a past master's jewel by that lodge. Emil Krauth making the presentation.

Past master's jewels also were presented to Grant Palmer, past high priest of the Missouri chapter, and C. G. Hughes, past master of Mandan lodge.

Col. L. N. Stren of Carson, assisted by E. A. Ripley, past head of the grand lodge in the state, were in charge of the third degree work. Dr. John Robinson of Garrison, district deputy, was present.

PIONEER DIES
Hans Nelson, aged 71, a resident of Mandan since 1883 passed away yesterday following an illness of about ten days. A cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of his death.

Ten days ago Nelson was found helplessly stricken at his home on Seventh street N. W. where he had lived alone for several years.

He was unmarried and has no relatives in this country but numbers beside in Denmark. For many years he was in the employ of the several managers of the Mandan hotel.

PEOPLE'S FORUM
To the Editor of the Bismarck Tribune:

As I was passing on my petition yesterday (March 25th) in Bismarck, some folks asked me if I was that Meyer who had that article in the Bismarck Tribune some time ago regarding "Burleigh County Court Increased Jurisdiction." I told them I was. Some folks asked me if I was the man who debated with Bill Langer of Bismarck on the $400,000 bond issue, that Bill is out with now, some time ago this winter in Baldwin. I told them I was, and they asked me if I would speak at the Auditorium in Bismarck, N. D. I told them I would if I could get the Auditorium free of charge, and if the Bismarck Tribune would announce it, free of charge. I would speak on "Equal Rights to All, Special Privilege to No One, and about our State Government as it has been mismanaged by our people at large of North Dakota. May I hear from the City Officials of Bismarck, also as a reader of the Bismarck Tribune, in my request is granted, I would like to have the date set for some Saturday evening, for I am a Farmer that is my only profession, and you will all agree with me that the time is here now when a farmer has got to get out and work, not look at the watch if it is time to quit, rather lay half asleep and wait for day break to come.

Yours very truly,
Julius Meyers.

WOMEN WIN
Wishek, N. D., March 27.—Wishek women sprang a surprise at the city election here by running three men candidates for park commissioners, to fill three places to be named. They selected two of their candidates. Only one candidate had been nominated at the caucus, besides it was thought that there was only one vacancy. The women learned that three vacancies existed because park commissioners elected last year failed to qualify.

Election results follow: trustees first ward, John Weber 56, and F. N. Gullis 39; second ward, J. J. Doyle 27, and Robert Gruber 19; third ward, E. H. Cook 23, and John Dock-ter 24.

J. B. Nolte defeated J. W. Ackerman for clerk by a vote of 112 to 88. Other officers elected follow: H. E. Timm, treasurer; J. W. Hoffer, justice; Fred Herr, assessor; E. J. Baller, marshal; Edward Herr, P. N. Gullis and E. H. Cook, park commissioners.

XLVII (continued)

She looked up into his eyes, anxious but imperious, and answered softly: "Why not?"

"Exactly. I've no desire to take that long journey with you, but I'm not going to take any chances, either."

Ab! Here's an idea that beats the other hollow. When the party breaks up we'll go down to Homersville with them, marry there, and return to camp. I don't see how your Dolomites could beat this for a honeymoon.

Why in thunder should we trail all the way over to Europe to find a secluded when we must return in two or three months, anyhow? It's a scandalous waste. We can go to the Dolomites for our second honeymoon—we'll have one every year. And this is much more in the picture if you want to be Mary Ogden again. She never would have proposed anything so elaborate and unnecessary. Say yes, and don't be more than a minute about it."

Mary drew in her breath sharply. The plan made a violent and irresistible appeal. There would be no long interval for possible reversal, for contacts in which it might be difficult to hold fast to her new faith. But what excuse could she make to leave him later? Later? Did Austria really exist? Did she care? Let the future take care of itself. Her horizon, a luminous band, encircled these mountains.

She smiled into his ardent eyes. "Very well. I'll write to Hortense today and tell her to send me up a troupe-seau of sorts. And now you are to understand that you have not dared to propose to me yet and are suffering all the qualms of uncertainty for I am a desperate girl, and took a long walk in the woods this morning with Mr. Scores."

"Very well, Miss Ogden, I will now do my best to make a fool of myself, and as soon as we return hours. There was no need for careful avoidance of dangerous subjects. Clavering had come to these woods nearly every year since he had made the north his home, and she had forgotten nothing of her woodland lore. When one is "in the woods," as the great Adirondacks are familiarly called, one rarely talks of anything but their manifold offerings. It is easy enough to forget the world. They both had their long tramps, their rough campings-out, more or less exciting adventures. When a loud bell, hung in a frame outside the camp, summoned them to dinner, they walked out briskly. Once, as the trail widened, he touched her fingers tentatively. She let him curl for a moment, then gave him a provocative glance over her shoulder and hurried on.

XLVIII

Clavering, when making up his list with Mr. Dinwiddle (by courtesy), had, with the exception of Todd, who was always the life of any party, Gora, whom he always liked to have at hand, and Eva Darling, who was a favorite of "The Ambassador to the Court of the Sophisticates," as Todd had long since dubbed him, chosen his guests at random, taking whom he could get, careful merely to ask those who, so far as he knew, were on speaking terms.

But he hardly could have gathered together a more congenial and lively party, nor one more delighted to leave New York for the woods. Henry Minor, editor of one of the intellectual and faintly radical magazines, whose style was so involved in his efforts to be both "different" and achieve an unmitigated glitter, that he had recently received a petition to issue a glossary, was as amiable as a puppy in the society of his friends and when in the woods talked in words of one syllable and discovered a mighty appetite. His wife, who had demonstrated her originality by calling herself Mrs. Minor, was what is known as a spilling cook and a top-notch dresser. She had, in fact, the most charming assortment of sports clothes in the camp. Eva Darling, who danced for pastime and illustrated for what little bread she was permitted to eat at home, was as lively as a grasshopper and scarcely less devastating. Babette Gold wore her black hair in smooth bands on either side of the perfect oval of her face, and had the sad and yearning gaze of the unforgotten Magdalen, and she had written two novels dealing with the day-medicines of the lower middle class, treating with a clinical wealth of detail the lamentable monotones of the nuptial couch and the arid intimacies of the nursery.

She smoked incessantly, could walk ten miles at a stretch, and was as passionless as a clam. Gerald Scores, who wore a short pointed beard and looked the complete artist, was one of the chief hopes of the intellectual drama cunningly commercialized; and as capable as Clavering of shutting up his genius in a water-tight compartment, and enjoying himself in the woods. He was mildly flirtatious, but looked upon emotional intensity in the personal life of the artist as a criminal waste of force. Halifax Bolton, who claimed to be the discoverer of the Younger Generation (in fiction) and was just twenty-eight himself, was a critic of formidable severity and the author of at least five claquees.

The intense concentration of writing routed his sense of humor, but he had as many droll stories in his repertoire as Todd. His wife, the famous "Alberta Jones," a fierce Lucy Stoner, was the editor of a phenomenal salary, of one of the "Woman's Magazines," and wrote short stories of impeccable style and indifferent content for the Century and the Dial.

They were all intimate friends and argued incessantly and amiably. And they were all devoted to Mr. Dinwiddle, whom they addressed as Excellence, without accent.

When Mary and Clavering arrived at the camp in response to the dinner bell, Eva Darling, who wore very pretty pink silk bloomers under her sport skirt, was turning band-springs down the living room, while the rest of the party applauded rapturously, and Mrs. Lar-sing, who was entering with the fried chicken, nearly dropped the platter.

"Just to tell—Madame Zattiany," cried Minor. "This is the sixth round and she is putting—"

But she interrupted him. "Mary—from this time on, I insist. You make me feel an outsider. I won't be addressed to that formal manner—nor answer to that formal name again."

"Mary! Mary! Mary!" shouted the party with one accord, and Clavering drew a long breath. He had wondered how she would manage to feel Mary Ogden under the constant bombardment of a name that was a title in more ways than one. But he might have trusted her to manage it!

to camp, with telegraph to New York for a five-pound box of chocolates.

"Hark! Hark! 'The Lark!'" shouted Todd as he roved past with Babette Gold. "Only there isn't a lark or any other bird in these woods that I've been able to discover."

"Birds sing one at a time," shouted back Clavering. "Choir of jealous soliloquists."

He roved into a little cove and they gazed into the dim green woods, but the maple leaves grew almost to the ground, and it was like peering through the tiny changing spaces of a moving curtain through which one glimpsed green columns flecked with gold.

He beached the boat, and they walked, single file, up a narrow run-way made by the deer. Every-where was that leafy whispering curtain. Between the rigid spruce and soft maples were fragrant balsams and ferns, and an occasional pine with its pale green spikes. They passed enormous boulders detached from the glaciers that had ground mountains in their embrace, but today things of mere beauty in their coats of pink and green and golden moss.

Their footsteps made no sound on the mossy path, and they came suddenly upon a deer and his doe drinking at a pool. But the antlered head was flung back instantly, the magnificent buck wheeled on his hind legs, gave a leap and went crashing through the forest, mooting his protesting fury. The doe scampered after, her white-lined tail standing up perfectly straight.

LEVEL OF GREAT SALT LAKE IS RISING

Salt Lake City, March 27.—Contrary to the belief that Great Salt Lake is gradually rising and in the opinion of J. Cecil Alter in charge of the United States weather bureau here, it will reach the level it was at when the Mormon pioneers first came in 1847.

Government statistics show that the lake, which is 100 miles long and 40 miles wide, had an average depth of 15 feet 10 inches in 1868. From that time until 1903 the water gradually lowered until it reached only a few inches. However, it has been steadily rising since reaching its low level and now the average depth is six feet four inches.

Great Salt Lake is said to be what is left of ancient Lake Bonneville, which at one time covered most of what is now Utah and part of Nevada. The old shore lines of Lake Bonneville are still visible on the hills around Salt Lake City.

The gradual rise of the lake is causing considerable trouble to railroads and farmers. The former have been obliged to raise their tracks and farmers who settled on the shores of the lake when the water was down have had to desert some of their land which is being gradually submerged.

The water of Great Salt Lake is about 20 percent salt and it is estimated that should all the water be evaporated for the salt content about 300,000,000 tons of the product would be obtainable. The lake is popular for bathing because the water is so buoyant that it is possible to stay afloat without effort. There is no marine life on the lake because of the salty condition of the water and the suggestion that fish be planted there has been discarded by experts.

Iowa Physician Makes Startling Offer To Catarrh Sufferers

Found Treatment Which Healed His Own Catarrh and Now Offers to Send It Free To Sufferers Anywhere

Davenport, Iowa.—Dr. W. O. Coffey, Suite 1820, St. James Hotel Bldg., this city, one of the most widely known physicians and surgeons in the central west, announces that he found a treatment which completely healed him of catarrh in the head and nose, deafness and head aches after many years of suffering. He then gave the treatment to a number of other sufferers and they state that they also were completely healed. The Doctor is so proud of his achievement and so confident that his treatment will bring other sufferers the same freedom it gave him, that he is offering to send a 10 days supply absolutely free to any reader of this paper who writes him. Dr. Coffey has specialized on eye, ear, nose and throat diseases for more than thirty-five years and is honored and respected by countless thousands. If you suffer from nose, head or throat catarrh, catarrh deafness or head aches, send him your name and address today.—Adv.

VILLA'S "GOLD MINE?"

Francisco Villa, Mexico's most picturesque bandit chieftain, died a rich man. Troops of Gen. Roman Lopez, commander of the federal garrison at Juarez, are busy digging for his buried gold and silver bullion. A letter telling how it had been dropped into an old well near Fort Hidalgo was found on a rebel officer recently executed. Lopez is sure it was written by Villa. It tells how 22 barros carried the precious load to the hitherto unknown cache. The hidden wealth is expected to total at least $50,000.

Progressive Bloc Seen As Real Third Party

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

Washington, March 27.—Lost. One Farm Bloc. What has become of it and what does its disappearance mean?

Somewhere in the shuffle of the last few months, the "Farm Bloc," which was such a great source of worry and concern to the regulars in the preceding Congress, has disappeared. One never hears it mentioned about Washington these days. Yet the men who composed it are still holding down their seats in the Senate. What's the answer?

The answer is that the bloc has outgrown its homespun, rural garb and has been fitted to a new suit of clothes. It doesn't stress its farm interests exclusively any more. It still has them, but it has increased its acquaintance, extended its horizon, to things other than purely agricultural. And it has grown in the process.

If you seek the "Farm Bloc" today you must look for it in that larger, better-rounded, more-promising "Progressive Bloc." The "Progressive Bloc" is the "Farm Bloc" plus.

The growth of the Farm Bloc into the Progressive Bloc is being studied with interest and even alarm by both old party leaders.

The Farm Bloc, when it first appeared in Washington, was a crude, unsophisticated country bumpkin.

As the Progressive Bloc, it has reached that period of adolescence where some signs of its ambitions and future possibilities are discernible. It is exhibiting surprising agility at eluding the pitfalls and traps set to entangle it and also indicates that it knows where it wants to go and how to get there.

The next step in this evolution, the political biologists foresee, will be maturing of this stripping Progressive Bloc into a full-fledged party. That will mean, it is conceded, that a crisis has arrived in the affairs of the G. O. P. and the Democrats. For a new party, on as substantial a basis as it now seems possible the newcomers will have won a result in a political realignment which might mean quick death to one of the existing major parties.

The line of cleavage naturally would fall between progressivism and conservatism.

The Republicans, may already be listed as accepting the conservative role.

The Democrats, hampered by progressive tendencies by a conservative south, wholly at sea as to whom they shall nominate for president, would be forced to occupy middle ground. Which, after all, may be the safest.

In the meantime, the constant drum-fire of investigation disclosures is all to the good for the Progressive Bloc. If, later, as it is whispered may develop, the barrage drops on Democrats as well as Republicans, the intra-Progressives will only increase their cry for "a new deal."

AT THE MOVIES

"THE WHIPPING BOSS"
The Whipping Boss, the film based on the Martin Tabert case, was presented to about 750 people at the Capitol last night. It was repeated again tonight. An eight-piece orchestra furnished music. The picture, the result of the death of a North Dakota boy in a Florida prison camp, is a dramatic presentation. It is presented here under the auspices of Lloyd Spetz Post, American Legion.

THE ELTINGE
An uproarious mythical comedy of a trio of unmanageable kids with no one to manage them, is the theme of the picture at the Eltinge theatre for Friday and Saturday.

"The Country Kid", Wesley Barry picture. The parts of the other two kids are played by "Baby" Bruce Guerin, four years old and a wonder, and "Spec" O'Donnell.

The story was specially written for "The Country Kid" by Julien Josephson.

AT THE CAPITOL
The author of "Judgment of the Storm," the powerful human screen drama which is presented at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow is one of the hundreds and perhaps thousands of "regular folks" in America who can write screen plays. Mrs. Ethel Styles Middleton of Pittsburgh is a housewife, most of whose time must be devoted to the care of a baby boy, to housework and to social duties, but her creative talent would find an outlet—and she wrote the story which was accorded the honor of selection as the first production by the Palmer Corporation.

CO-OPS BOOST N. D. BUSINESS

Marketed Over Million Dollars Worth of Farm Products in Year

Fargo, N. D., Mar. 27.—Cooperative marketing associations in North Dakota marketed $1,150,263 worth of farm products at a saving for farmers of $180,962 during 1923, according to the annual report of activities of county extension agents prepared by J. W. Haw, county agent leader, and N. D. Gorman, assistant county agent leader, at the North Dakota Agricultural college.

This report shows that county agents cooperated with farmers in organizing and operating 100 cooperative marketing agencies during the year. Total membership in the organizations was 4,576. These organizations made cooperative purchases aggregating $29,900 at a saving of $6,000.

Cooperative marketing enterprises were organized or given aid for the marketing of wool, horses, poultry, livestock, cream, alfalfa, sweet clover and other kinds of seed.

ASSESSOR TO START SOON

All Voters to be Registered For June Primary Election

City Assessor W. A. Falconer is preparing to start out his work of assessing and registering the voters on April 1. He is now working on real estate books, and will begin on the personal property lists next week. Every voter must register with the assessor, says Mr. Falconer, giving their party affiliation in cases where one member of the family is away a good deal of the time he may empower another member of the family to state his party affiliation. The books of the assessor are delivered to the inspector of election. People of the city are also asked to make inventory articles in their homes in preparation for the assessor's call in order that he may easily and quickly arrive at a reasonable valuation.

PRIZE CONTEST RULES GIVEN

County School Children May Compete For Annual Winchester Award

Announcement of the annual Winchester prize awards has been made in the schools of Burleigh county by Miss Madge Runey, county superintendent, in a school bulletin. Her statement follows:

In memory of Walter H. Winchester, a trust fund has been created by the family which furnishes the sum of twenty-five dollars each year to be presented as a prize to the pupil in the schools of Burleigh county, who shall excel in arithmetic.

Judge Winchester was a former County Superintendent of Schools for Burleigh county and during his long service as Judge of the District Court he never lost interest in the schools and in educational matters.

The conditions of the contest for this prize each year are as follows:

1. The county superintendent of schools shall select in such manner as he may determine from those completing the eighth grade work in the rural and village schools of Burleigh county, six pupils showing the greatest proficiency in Arithmetic; and the city superintendent of schools shall select three pupils from those completing the eighth grade work in the Bismarck schools showing the greatest proficiency in Arithmetic.

2. The nine pupils thus selected shall compete in a special examination in Arithmetic in charge of the State Department of Education at the Winchester Memorial Prize.

3. In grading the papers the following points shall be considered:

(1) Clearness of Expression (showing arithmetical reasoning), (2) Accuracy and care in details, (3) Neatness.

Date: January 28, 1924.

Funeral Services To Be Held Saturday Morning

Funeral services for Miss Elizabeth Morris, who passed away Tuesday morning in St. Patrick's hospital at Missoula, Mont., will be held from St. Mary's Pro-Cathedral, Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Solemn High Mass will be read by Father Slag, assisted by Father Clemens of Mandan and Father Seiler.

Miss Morris was well known and highly respected in this city and vicinity, having attended the city schools and taught in Burleigh county for a number of years. Before going West, Miss Morris had been associated with the clerical staff of the A. W. Lucas Co. for two years.

The past two months Miss Morris had been very ill with heart trouble but her friends were unaware of her illness until about a month ago when her sister, Miss Sarah Morris, was called to Missoula.

Miss Morris was a devout member of the Catholic church and leaves four sisters, Sister M. Magna of Vancouver, Wash., Miss Sarah and Eugene Morris and Mrs. Sam Turnlow of this city, and eight brothers, Mike of Canada; Tom, of Wilton; Leo, William, Arthur, Steve, George and Edward of Bismarck to mourn her loss.

The remains will lie in state at Webb Bros. Funeral parlors until the funeral services Saturday morning. Pall bearers will be: Francis Halloran, Roy Breen, Harold Breen, Hugh McGarvey, Norman McDonald and Max Kupitz. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Cured His Rupture
I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full guarantee about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 447K Marcellus Avenue, Manassas, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

Local Druggists Give Written Guarantee to Refund Money if First Application Fails to Bring Relief.

A remarkably new discovery now promises quick, soothing relief to Rheumatic Sufferers. German chemistry that has given to the world the boon of Aspirin for the relief of headache pains, and Novocaine for painless dentistry, has now come forward with another scientific discovery that is absolutely guaranteed to end rheumatic pains.

This marvelous discovery, known as Buhler Oil is a new combination of certain rare oils, which produces a clear, amber liquid that is applied with the finger tips. It is so penetrating that it disappears within a few seconds, so it must be entirely absorbed by the body tissues. Results are truly amazing! Tired muscles regain life, creaking joints become supple, annoying twinges cease. Even the most advanced, stubborn cases show astonishing improvement almost at once.

Rheumatism, it has been found in an enormous number of cases, is due to toxic poisons formed in the intestines, which are carried by the blood to the muscles and joints—and the new German oil is designed to neutralize these pain-causing poisons.

So amazing have been the results from this German discovery that American distributors have authorized local druggists to offer it under a positive written guarantee, signed by the druggist himself, to refund the purchase price if even the first application fails to bring prompt and gratifying relief.

If you suffer from stabbing rheumatic pains in the arms, legs and muscles—if your back sometimes feels as if it would break in two—if your joints rasp and torture you—then by all means try a bottle of Buhler Oil today. You'll never want to be without it.

Remember—it is sold under an absolute written guarantee from your druggist. If it fails to give you relief after the first application, your druggist will refund the money without question. In this city Buhler Oil can be obtained under this written guarantee from good druggists such as Lenhart Drug Co., J. Breslow, and Burt Finney.

"Gets-It" Makes Corns Vanish

Even Surgeons don't cut their own corns. They use "Gets-It" to rid their feet of corn or callous pests. Why should you risk infection or a slip of your razor when it is so easy to end corns and callouses, quickly, completely, painlessly? Two or three drops of "Gets-It" does all corn pain—then the corn loosens so you can peel it right off with never a tinge of hurt. Try it today. E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold everywhere—money back guarantee.

"Gets-It" is sold in this city by Cowan's Drug Store.

TWO EXPERTS SECURED FOR SALES SCHOOL

Date of Lahr Motors Free
School Put off to April 1
To Better Course

The school for salesmen to be conducted by experts of the Willys-Overland organization at the Lahr Motor Sales Company will be held at 7:45 p. m. Tuesday night, April 1, instead of dates previously announced, it was stated today by W. E. Lahr.

The new date was selected because a telegram was received from the Willys-Overland factory stating that if it is held on April 1 an additional factory expert will be here, thus giving two main factory representatives to be in charge of the sales school. Because of the opportunity of getting an additional expert, Mr. Lahr decided on the new date.

The sales school, he said today, will be conducted along the lines of schools in the larger cities, the experts coming being the best in the Willys-Overland organization.

The school is to be held at night so that young men who are invited to attend the school need not leave up their present positions. The instruction is to be given without expense to those who desire to attend, it is felt by Mr. Lahr that it will be valuable instruction for those attending whether or not they enter the Lahr Motor Sales or the Willys-Overland organization. The factory representatives, it is understood, will be in the lookout for apt men to place in their organization in various parts of the country. The instruction, it is held, would be valuable in any line of business.

ADAM HANNA IS RELEASED

Williston, N. D., March 27.—Adam Hannah, Minneapolis banker, was dismissed from custody after a two day hearing on a charge of receiving deposits in an insolvent bank before Justice O. G. Parks of Watford City. The bank was located at Chabonneau, N. D.

By stipulation, Mr. Hannah posted $1,000 bond to insure his further appearance on the same charge. If he should be wanted after the testimony is presented to Attorney General.

For Raw Sore Throat

At the first sign of a raw, sore throat rub on a little Musterole with your fingers.

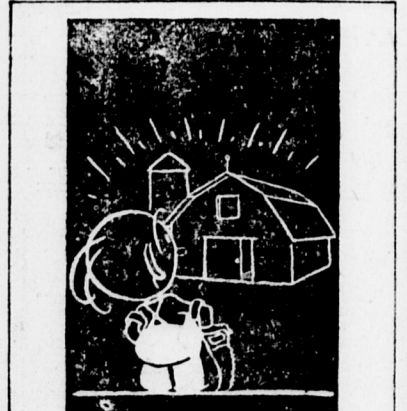

It goes right to the spot with a gentle tingle, loosens congestion, draws out soreness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It has all the strength of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Nothing like Musterole for croupy children. Keep it handy for instant use.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

POINCARE MAY AGAIN BECOME FRENCH HEAD

Reconsiders Decision to Quit and Attempts to Form a
New Ministry

Paris, March 27.—Raymond Poincare consented this evening to resume the premiership which he resigned yesterday in the Chamber of Deputies.

Paris, Mar. 27.—By the A. P.—Premier Poincare reached the ministry of foreign affairs early today and immediately went to work continuing the consultations he began last night with a view to reconstituting the cabinet.

He received M. D'Aubigny, under-secretary of state for finance, at 8:30 o'clock and later Senator Desseines, chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the Senate with whom he held a long conversation.

Next he summoned Morris Bokanowski, reporter of the budget, who is most prominently mentioned as successor to finance minister Delastay.

Boy Scout News

The quaint description of a Boy Scout hike, written in boy language—mis-spelling and all—is given here. The hike was taken by Troop No. 6.

A 11 MILE HIKE.
We started out at nine-thirty and went northwest over a field of corn and plowed earth. When we were even with the road we went straight north over a cattle pasture. On one of the hills in the pasture, we saw tracks of a large bird but we were not able to find out what kind of a bird it was so we went on.

Then we went up the road and over the old Mandan village, when we got to the cabin we did not meet Napoleon and Flatire who were supposed to be there and then go on and finish our hike.

We stayed at the cabin and hour or more in hopes that Napoleon and Flatire would come. I built a fire and Walt put the boards in there right holes, then we moved the old stove in the corner, out of the way.

After that I sat on the bench to dry my boots, while Walt wrestled with a block of concrete which he was going to use for the back of a bed that he was determined to have. But he fell and pretty near put him to sleep so he let it lay. In a half an hour we were dry and ready to go.

"Price Class"

the mysterious stranger in the motor industry

Does a difference in price indicate a difference in quality? Why is one car priced 25% to 50% higher than another of the same quality? The 4 questions that a buyer should ask when considering any car.

HERE are facts based on world's engineering authority. If you have any intention of buying an automobile, you are urged to read them.

No "Price Class"

There are only two kinds of automobiles today. Economically produced cars which give you more for your money. And cars which are not, and give you less.

Price does not indicate intrinsic worth. But an individual maker's cost of production.

Hence two cars may show a price difference of $400 to $1,200 and more. And be of the same quality.

The difference in price simply shows that it cost one maker more to make this car than the other. Judging value on price, this is folly. Price class is a myth.

Where the Difference Comes in Studebaker, producing 150,000 cars yearly, has reduced engineering cost to $3.33 per car.

This is based on a total engineering cost of $500,000 a year, which is the least on which any manufacturer can maintain an efficient engineering department.

Thus a manufacturer producing but 20,000 cars a year must add $25 per car for engineering, or eight times as much as Studebaker.

Other fixed overheads have been reduced proportionately. And these influence Studebaker prices.

A set of body dies costs $100,000. It will produce many thousand sets of body stampings, each one as perfect as though there were only a dozen made.

By building 50,000 bodies from a single set of dies, Studebaker reduces the die cost per body to only $2.00.

Why Studebaker excels the world in body building

For 72 years Studebaker has been a builder of quality vehicles.

This historical tradition has been inbred in generation after generation of coach-makers. And the Indiana city of South Bend is known as a world-Mecca of artisans of this craft.

In the modern $10,000,000 Studebaker body plants, there are sons and fathers and grandfathers working side by side. Their religion is fine coach building. And this is reflected in their work.

As fine body builders, Studebaker stands supreme. No other maker has the experience of Studebaker. No other the Studebaker traditions to inspire him.

Such a car is the Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car, at $1045. A clear difference of between $155 to $356.

The uneconomical manufacturer is not profiteering. He is unfortunately situated, that is all.

Equalled Only by Costliest Foreign and American Makes

All Studebaker models are equipped with Timken bearings. There are few cars in America, regardless of price, which equal ours on this point. In our Light-Six, for instance, we put more Timken bearings than are used in any competitive car, within $1,500 of its price.

ings than are used in any competitive car, within $1,500 of its price.

We subject Studebaker cars to 30,000 inspections. That requires 1,200 men. All told over 70,000 hand and machine operations are performed in the manufacture of a Studebaker car. In so many operations, though each one is small, there is great opportunity for economy and savings. 15% premium is paid on many steels to insure Studebaker specifications instead of "commercial run" used in cars many times Studebaker price.

No finer car can be built than the Studebaker of today. Only famous foreign cars and the most costly of American cars, compare.

See a Studebaker—Then Decide

Buy no car until you've seen a Studebaker. Go over it, point for point. Consult any unbiased expert. Ask your banker. And you will own a Studebaker.

Get an Answer to These 4 Questions Before Buying Any Car

1—Is this an assembled car? Or "partly" assembled. Insist on this answer. Assembled cars pay a profit to from 75 to 100 parts makers alone.

2—What sort of bearings? Studebakers are Timken-equipped. Everlasting smoothness and quiet performance result.

3—How many cars a year does this maker produce? Small productions mean either a higher price or cheaper car.

4—What sort of upholstery? Studebaker closed models are done in Chase Mohair, the finest material for this purpose known. Open models are upholstered in genuine leather.
